Daly City Accuses County Of Reneging On Building

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Post-Times Writer

Daly City has accused the county of reneging on a promise to build a county services building adjacent to the city hall. "It appears they (the county supervisors) are backing down from a previous commitment," city manager David R. Rowe informed the council Monday. Rowe explained he had received a letter from County Manager M. D. Tarshes dated March 11 in which the proposed building got less than a lukewarm reception by the majority of supervisors. In his letter to Rowe, Tarshes pointed out: "As I have indicated to members of the city council and you in the past, it is my opinion that the county is not in any position to make a commitment at this time regarding the construction of this building.

"As a part of the planning of our longterm capital project program, I believe we should consider the construction of regional administrative centers in several sections of the county."

Councilman Anthony Giamonna asked, "Is Daly City considered as one of the 'several sections'?"

Chiming in, councilman Michael DeBernardi asked, "Is Daly City considered part of the county?"

But mayor Bernard (Bud) Lysett had strong words on what he labeled the "procrastinating attitude" of the county on the matter.

"The question hasn't been answered ... I want a definite answer from (the county) on this matter. If they aren't going to build let them say so. The county has done nothing on this except procrastinate ... even taken evasive action," Lysett said.

Daly City has 16 lots available for such a building and, along with the Jefferson Union High School District, are prepared to enter into a joint agreement to build the center.

Once built, the city hoped such county service facilities as mental health, probation and courts would be located in the center, along with the JUHSD administration offices.

For the past year, however, the county has ran hot and cold on the subject.

At the last meeting on the building, held at the Daly City city hall, then-Board chairman Bob St. Clair and manager Tarshes began the joint county-school-city meeting by throwing cold water on the proposal.

Tarshes simply said the county did not have the money and he, personally, did not think satellite-type service centers were desirable.

St. Clair relayed the feelings of his fellow supervisors on the center: Very cold.

However, before the meeting was over both St. Clair and Tarshes warmed to the idea and indicate they would report back to the full board for direction on the subject.

The March 11 letter was in apparent reply to a recent letter from Rowe asking the status of the proposal.

S.S.F. Grants $100,000 To Bury Lines

South San Francisco councilmen Monday had no qualms about spending $100,000 to put about 1,000 feet of utility lines underground. They flinched somewhat though when a second figure of a half million dollars was mentioned for further undergrounding.

The $100,000 is for undergrounding the facilities on Chestnut Avenue between El Camino Real and Mission Road, and on El Camino Real between Arroyo Drive and Twelve Mile Creek. The $500,000 figure was given as a "very rough" estimate of the cost of undergrounding all the rest of El Camino Real.

Councilmen acted on the recommendation of City Mgr. Tom McKenzie, there is "no problem" about scraping up the $100,000. He said it would have to come out of the city's sales tax or other sources.

The $100,000, incidentally, will be paid back to the city in two yearly installments of $50,000.

As explained by Doug Wigton, manager of PG&E in South San Francisco, funds for undergrounding are made available through an order of the Public Utilities Commission. He said PG&E has allotted $9 million for overhead removal. They allocate monies to cities according to revenues received from the cities. In the case of South (Please See Page 43, Col. 6)

THIRD INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL

Use Of F. Rivera To Ease 'Ben' Crowding Proposed

Jefferson El. Trustees Seek Public Viewpoints

By WILL THOMAS
Post City Editor

A proposal by Supt. Frank Greenwood to convert Fernando Rivera into a two-grade intermediate school, at a cost of about $130,000 that would be raised through a 10 to 12-cent tax boost, was disclosed to trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City Monday.

Further public airing will be March 31 at 8 p.m.

The move by Greenwood is his answer to slicing away at overcrowding at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School in unincorporated Colma.

Benjamin Franklin, expected to house 1109 youngsters next year, was built originally as a K-6 school, and its physical layout and small corridors have been decried often by teachers, administrators and parents.

The intermediate facility was built to accommodate 1,070 students in its classrooms. It was added on to and modified for use as an intermediate school in later years, and is one of two such facilities in the district.

Establishment of Fernando Rivera as a temporary intermediate plant — for a period of but two years, Greenwood suggested — would leave Ben Franklin with 849 seventh and eighth grade pupils. Greenwood said an enrollment of 1,109 was anticipated next year.

Greenwood proposed that the 120 fourth, fifth and sixth graders be shifted to Westlake School located to the east, but still within walking distance.

Westlake School would have to be expanded, through the use of four portable units.

Eight other portables, Greenwood explained, would be required at Fernando Rivera, located on Lake Merced Boulevard and one of three elementary facilities serving youngsters in Westlake regions north of Alameda Boulevard.

Trustees decided to hold off a decision — Greenwood seeks prompt action — until Ed Tomassello, absent Monday night, could be present and so more members of the community could become aware of the proposal and express their viewpoints on the overall school housing program.

Dr. Sanford A. Marcus said he favored conversion of Fernando, inasmuch as his youngsters, and those of other residents of the area, could continue seventh-eighth grade instruction without facing two disruptions in a year or the "chaotic" conditions at "Ben."

Presently, students in that area of Westlake complete their seventh grade at Fernando, but "pass through" Ben Franklin for a year, before moving on to high school — some to Westlake (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Three Booked On Narcotics, Gun Charges

Three persons were arrested, and police confiscated an estimated $3000 in marijuana and drugs, including raw opium, and nearly a dozen weapons, during a raid Monday night in San Bruno.

Arthur William Bradford, 32, of 827 Mills Avenue, was booked on charges of possession of narcotics, possession of dangerous drugs for sale and possession of marijuana for sale.

Erika Christman, 20, of 2220 Thurm Avenue, Belmont, was charged with possession of dangerous drugs and possession of marijuana.

Sarah Jane Castagneri, 24, of San Jose, was arrested on a felony warrant in violation of $3,120 bail out of San Mateo for forgery. She was transferred to San Mateo. Bradford and his other companion remained in custody of San Bruno police.

Detective Sgt. Hugh Fraser of San Bruno said he had received a tip from the Burlingame police regarding possibility of a cache of narcotics at the Mills Avenue address. He said a search warrant was obtained at the South San Francisco Court and he, fellow officer Jack Gibson, and Officers Fred Palmer and Gerald Nordstrom of Burlingame (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Improvement Of Traffic Is Forecast

Traffic safety should be improved in San Bruno if recent concurrence by councilmen on traffic safety committee recommendations are any yardstick.

As a result of the recommendations the city will install a guard rail on the east side of Summit Drive, across the intersection of Susan Drive.

The design department of the State Division Highways will be asked to consider installation of a guard rail along the steep slope areas of Skyline Boulevard between Berkshire Drive and Sharp Park Road.

A red zone will be placed in front of Albert's Market on Linden Avenue, from a radius on Jenevein and Linden to the store entrance. Also a yellow zone will be placed on the west side of Linden, beginning two feet south of the red curb radius and extending to the rear lot. (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

'COMPLETELY UNSAFE,' SAY CONTRACTORS

Use Of Nonmetallic, Sheathed Cable Is Opposed

San Mateo County electrical contractors voiced opposition to the use of non-metallic sheathed cable in building construction at a study session of the Daly City city council Monday.

Some three weeks ago the same council heard proponents of the plastic coated electrical cable tell how the wiring would save time in construction and lower building costs.

They explained to the council that the wiring was perfectly safe and with the aid of recordings and visual slides backed their hand with statements from various fire and safety agencies.

But the NMS wiring was branded "completely unsafe" by Robert G. Coleman, San Mateo County chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association, at Monday's meeting.

Coleman produced articles, correspondence and a display board to prove his point—that the cable could prove to be a death-trap in a home by accidentally driving a nail through a wall and piercing the wiring.

With conduit or metal covered wiring the same type accident would be avoided, he said.

"If the nail happened to pierce the outer metal covering it would still have to cut into the wires inside. Even if this happened the metal jacket is grounded and would not turn the nail into a 'hot' electrical point as in the case of the (plastic coated wiring)," Coleman explained.

The executive manager of the Association informed the council that rats often eat wiring, however, with metal sheathed cable the rodents cannot get at the wiring.

Savings on a $40,000 home wired with NMS cable, instead of the metallic raceways or knob and tube, would be about $200, according to builders.

"This would be only pennies a month and I don't think it means all that much to a homebuyer," Coleman said.

He said safety was far more desirable to prospective homebuyers.

Southern California's major cities, according to Coleman, do not allow NMS cable.

"Many of them tried it for a while and threw it out," he said. And with the myriad new electrical appliances coming onto the market it was important to insure that the installed wiring could handle peak loads, Coleman said.

Wayne Thomas, business manager for local 1617, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, labeled statements made by builders that high (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

The continued public hearing on the improvement and widening of South Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco was continued again Monday night.

City Mgr. Tom McKenzie said he and Lou Goss, director of public works, have been negotiating with Bodinson Manufacturing Company representatives concerning possible purchase of Bodinson property related to the roadway improvement.

McKenzie said he "hoped" the public hearing could be held at the next council meeting, and assured Mayor Frank Bertucci that construction would not be held up.

Was 'Johnny' Hungry?

Prodding The Public For School Lunches

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Awhile back there was a big to-do about why Johnny can't read. It was an indictment on the entire learning process. Maybe Johnny was hungry? At least not receiving proper nutritional value.

This is the belief of Mrs. Carol Montes, president of the California School Food Service Association. Indeed other members of the organization attending a press lunch at South San Francisco's El Camino High School yesterday noon stressed this point also.

The purpose of the lunch, in addition to offering a sampling of pre-pak school lunches, was a start in making the public aware of the need for lunch programs in all schools.

It also was a kick-off for the association's 17th annual conference, scheduled for March 22 through 25 at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco.

The association is a division of the American School Food Service Association. Membership consists of school district food service supervisors, managers and other personnel. There are nearly 5,000 members in California.

Purpose of the conference is to "share experiences, exchange information about new and improved techniques in the best ways to provide the maximum number of school children (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Girl's Eye Hurt

Parents Helped Keep The Cool At Tense Serramonte

Daly City parents kept the cool at Serramonte High School as students' tempers threatened to erupt into violence again last Thursday in the wake of the arrest of a 15-year-old black girl charged with assault on a Mexican-American girl.

For the past two weeks the Serramonte campus, has been the scene of brushfire-type skirmishes between students — many of the fights displaying racial overtones.

The fights broke out again Wednesday shortly before noon when rumbles began drifting through the carpeted corridors concerning the slashing of a black student's car tire.

A white student who had been involved in a previous altercation with the same black youth was pinpointed as the tire slasher.

Without formalities the black student walked up to the white student and punched him in the mouth.

"That's when all hell broke loose," one administrator told The Post.

Fistfights between girls, boys, and girls and boys raged in the corridors, gym and outside the building.

Fifteen-year-old Sandra Espinosa was hit in the face with a heavy belt buckle allegedly wielded by the black girl student.

The victim was treated at Mary's Help Hospital. Authorities refused to comment on whether she will lose her eye or not.

Shortly before 11 a.m. Thursday, Officers Bob Sola and Fred Holeywinski, dressed in plain clothes, visited the school and discussed the matter with Principal Louis Martin.

It was decided to send the suspect home in the company of two teachers and place her in custody there.

School officials had apparently foreseen what would happen (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

Bruno C. of C. Doesn't Want More Cardrooms

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce has gone on record in opposition to any more card rooms in the city.

"I find a card room moving into the heart of our busiest shopping district deplorable," said chamber president Don Rizzo. The chamber recently lost a battle to prevent a cardroom from opening doors on San Mateo Avenue.

"The city council is doing everything they legally can to help us and we should go on record about our feelings," said Rizzo at the group's regular meeting.

Board members authorized Rizzo to appoint a special committee to act as liaison, and assist the city's planning commission and landlords in setting up a central business district.

If adopted, such a district would create a zone which will allow only retail stores on the ground floor level, and through attrition eliminate non-retail stores as defined in the ordinance.

Beautification committee vice chairman Joshua Maule III told chamber members that the committee was working on beautifying the entrance to San Mateo Avenue.

He said many stores are, and are planning to, repaint the front of their stores, and that untidy empty lots will be cleaned. It also was pointed out that PG&E has agreed to repaint their light poles green.

Use Of F. Rivera To Ease 'Ben' Crowding Proposed

moor, most to Serramonte — still others to private facilities. Other citizens attending the board session did not react as favorably as Dr. Marcus — they were from other areas of the community — to Greenwood's proposal.

Greenwood, himself, tabbed it to be the "only measure that can be taken" that would effectively reduce the "Ben" population for the next two years.

Others in the audience had suggestions, too. They ranged from conversion and expansion of the existing administrative office building — the floor space of which is credited against the district's classroom allocation by the state — to finding a school in the southern Westlake area to convert instead of Fernando.

Essentially, "Ben" is located on the southern edge of the Westlake Shopping Center and Fernando is a block-or-so to the north of the commercial area.

But Supt. Greenwood found problems inherent with most of the other possibilities advanced for the public — such proposals that perhaps either Deniel Webster or Franklin D. Roosevelt Schools might be considered. Thomas Edison and Abraham Lincoln schools are located on the same campus, behind the administrative offices; and one citizen suggested one of these might be used as a Southern District intermediate school.

Shifting of large numbers of students bothered Greenwood, he said, and would involve more pupils in that regard than his own plan.

However, all the talk did get trustees to thinking they'd better take a look at the overall housing situation in the district. Greenwood had tossed two alternatives at them to eliminate the Benjamin Franklin overcrowding on a more permanent basis.

—The construction of the first increment of the William Savage School in St. Francis Heights, for which the site already has been prepared.

—The addition of 23 classrooms to existing elementary schools, the conversion of Ben Franklin and the other existing intermediate plant — Colma — to K-8 schools and reverting completely to a K-8 grade organization, rather than the present K-6 and seventh and eighth intermediate structure.

Greenwood urged deep study of both proposals, particularly the organizational change alternative, because it is the most "radical departure" from present belief.

He suggested, however, that in the light of a decline in district enrollment that continued inaction on actual construction at the Savage site might prove beneficial, despite the constant rise in building costs.

Greenwood explained that the trustees could raise the special override tax "without the consent of the people."

He said $49,000 of the cost involved in creation of a third intermediate school at Fernando would involve personnel: one librarian, a counselor, one shop teacher, a home economics instructor, another custodian.

Nine persons would be transferred from Benjamin Franklin, he said.

Greenwood said Fernando would be unable to cover expensive shop or home economics programs.

The Public Prodded For Lunch Programs At School

with the best possible food at the lowest possible cost, free or at reduced rates if necessary, for all, in the near future."

Right now in California 766 out of the state's 1,000 school districts with children in kindergarten through 12th grade participate in the national school lunch program. In addition, 4,100 of the state's 6,500 public schools participate. Food service is available to some 3.5 million children, including about 500,000 needy children.

Yet many, far too many, children still go to school hungry, suggests the association membership.

"A school district does not have to provide a lunch program unless they want to provide a lunch program," said Mrs. Montes. "In many, if not most cases, a school lunch program often comes about through the efforts of a parent pressure group."

Of course the big problem in most instances is the fact that many districts cannot afford a lunch program.

As it is now, the federal government contributes what amounts to four cents a meal subsidy on food service programs. The State of California makes no contribution to the programs. Therefore the remainder of the 35 to 40-cent lunches must be borne by the students' parents. Some, believe it or not, can't afford it.

Mrs. Montes, for example, is dietitian at a San Jose elementary school district. The community contains a high percentage of children from low income families where proper diet is little understood.

The federal government will, if 20 per cent of the district's enrollment is considered on poverty level, provide an additional special funding for the food program.

But closer to home — the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City — is a case in point. Although not rated a poverty level district, the lunch program in the district is going through hunger (for money) pains.

Matter of fact, the district this past week instituted a snack bar operation as a possible alternative to the lunch program.

Dietitian for the district, Carol Power, said she doubts that the operation will result in the elimination of the food service program.

As of yesterday, the snack bar had been open two days, according to Miss Power. "We dropped 30 lunches the first day and 50 the second," she said. "But I did see some kids I've never seen before."

For the 1969-70 fiscal year, the Jefferson Elementary District spent $14,000 on free lunches.

A newly established central kitchen operation of the Daly City District points up what Miss Power referred to as "the most expandable 35 cents you ever saw."

This money must pay salaries, transportation of lunches to outlying schools, packaging, etc.

Even Mrs. Penny Hamilton, director of food service at the South San Francisco Unified School District, admits it costs more to prepare, pack and serve the lunch than what they charge for it.

That district has a variety hot and cold pack selection. Both are offered for 40 cents. As Mrs. Hamilton says, "They provide together one-third the daily requirement of nutrition. The cost to prepare them? Fifty-three cents. Even with a four-cent federal government subsidy, that's nine cents per meal more than they're taking in."

All ladies agreed that it is mighty difficult to try feeding children a nutritional meal that they can afford.

San Francisco, the amount is approximately $50,000 a year.

This money, however, is available only at the first of the year. So, in effect, the $100,000 represents a two-year project.

The matter of the $500,000 was broached because of the fact El Camino Real now is in the process of being improved and widened. It would be a choice time to put the utilities underground.

Figuring on the basis of $50,000 a year, and using the $500,000 figure Wigton said was "grabbed out of mid-air," it would take 10 years to complete the undergrounding process. McKenzie indicated the city might speed up this time-table by putting up the $500,000 right now.

Councilman Andrew Rocca pointed out, however, that the city would be giving up a considerable amount of money just in interest rates. "There is no reason we should advance a large amount of money to private enterprise, and lose money on our normal interest rate," he said.

Wigton said that PG&E would not pay interest on any of the monies. He said he preferred to look at it from PG&E's point of view. In that South San Francisco wants undergrounding, but there are no funds available for removal at PG&E expense, it is up to the city to put up the money to be repaid later.

Councilmen balked at this. They held off on the promise Wigton would talk with state highway people regarding possibility of state aid. Also mentioned was the possibility of putting the wires beneath the sidewalk rather than the road itself. This would mean installation could be prolonged, until such time as PG&E allocations were available to pick up the tab.

Improvement In Traffic Seen

This is a distance of approximately 90 feet. The purpose of the zoning is for unloading semi-truck trailers. Appropriate signs will be erected, too.

Another red zone will prohibit parking on the south side of Whitman Way, from the intersection of Courtland Drive east to the first apartment house driveway.

And parking on all of El Camino Real will be changed from a one hour to a two-hour limit. This was done as the result of a Chamber of Commerce survey.

Parents Keep Cool At Serramonte

once word circulated that the girl had been arrested. The night before scores of parents were invited to be at the school Thursday morning to help maintain order.

The 150 parents on hand did a "most commendable job," according to Principal Martin.

A grim Jefferson Union High School Dist. Supt. Edward Morgan said he would pursue a hardline policy at all the high schools if conditions do not change for the better.

"We'll simply suspend the troublemakers for the duration of the school season... it'll take time, but eventually we'll find them all," Morgan said.

Meanwhile, some 45 students at Serramonte met with Principal Martin and his staff and handed over a list of six demands they want met immediately.

The "student demands" included an open campus; the rehiring of Teacher Calvelo; the upper athletic fields opened; an ethnic studies program included with U.S. history; better relations between faculty and students; and, positive programs for better community relations.

Martin okayed two points — the ethnic studies and opening of the upper athletic fields — and informed the students the Open Campus policy was being discussed by Morgan and the Board of Trustees.

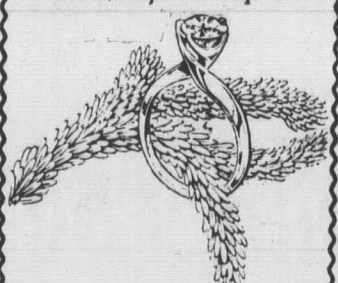

On the subject of rehiring Calvelo, Martin informed the group the matter was in litigation "and out of my hands."

Martin agreed that better relations should be instituted between the faculty and students and began a study on ways to get a positive program for better community relations under way.

costs of today's labor market was the cause of spiraling building costs "a myth."

In the past 20 years—since 1949—labor has gone down from 33 per cent to 18 per cent using new materials and new practices in building, Thomas said.

"I don't hear anyone blaming financing and land acquisition costs for these increases," Thomas challenged.

Three months ago the county Board of Supervisors threw the wiring dispute into the laps of each city and asked them for opinions before leaving the code "as is" or amending it to include the NMS cable.

Recently the class members attended a Jewish service of worship at the B'Nai Israel Synagogue.

Members of the class are Mark Wilms, Herb McKay, Roberta McKay, Vivian Lee, Karen Lee, Linda Isaac, Karen Gagli, Judy Maxwell, Adele Lopez, Yvonne Morales, and Julie McCluskey. Eddy Fong and Mrs. James McCluskey assist.

'Never Too Late' Topic For Sermon

"Never Too Late" is the sermon topic selected by Pastor A. David Donnelly for the Westside Baptist March 22, 11 a.m. worship hour message.

At this service, the adult choir will sing, and there will be other special music. Mrs. Hazel Leong, will play the newly installed Baldwin organ.

During the adult service, a children's church for boys and girls three to six years of age is conducted by Mrs. Jean Hernandez in the primary department meeting room. A Nursery also is maintained.

The all-family Sunday school hour is 9:45 a.m. at Westside Baptist Church. Since moving into the new facilities, Departmentalization has taken place in the Primary, Junior, and Adult departments.

Student Says Drug Polls In County Are 'Inaccurate'

A student editor at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica thinks recent polls on drug abuse are "highly inaccurate," because the teen-agers contacted "cannot be made to give honest answers."

The rebuff to county pollsters came from Alice Reichert, a co-editor-in-chief of Terra Nova's quarterly magazine, Tiger Tales.

In the current issue Miss Reichert, commenting in the magazine's "views, comments and editorials" section on local headlines ("Half of our teens use marijuana, says report" or "Teen Drug Use Doubled"), said:

"Regardless of how seriously these polls are administered, the fact remains that they are highly inaccurate, which means their usefulness is nil."

She explained that students often made a "class joke of these polls," in that they write answers to "impress friends" or to upset those taking the poll.

"Statistics pertaining to teen drug abuse," she continued, "are impossible by any method while the drugs remain illegal, because only government control of sales could result in honest answers."

Miss Reichert also said many answers are "underestimated."

In explanation, she offered: "Users may be afraid to admit it, even anonymously. The teacher may recognize handwriting, or an accurate account of drug abuse may result in a sterner crack down on drug laws."

She added, "It's really a joke among local teens how the city officials and school administrators believe that the presently low percentages are accurate."

According to Miss Reichert, the "kids who are involved with other teens, and exposed to common drug use, agree that at least around 75 per cent of teens are users."

She declared, "The teens cannot be made to give honest answers."

Miss Reichert concluded that the officials should "start worrying about what percentage of these teens they can help," instead of what percentage of them are "using or abusing" drugs.

Bishop At St. Martin's Episcopal Church Sunday

Beginning with the visit of Bishop Kilmer C. Myers on Palm Sunday, March 22, at 10 a.m., St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate, Daly City, will hold services every day during Holy Week.

Monday through Wednesday, March 23-25, the service of Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 p.m., and a special Maundy Thursday service with music will be held on March 26 at 8 p.m., climaxed by the three-hour, Noon to 3 p.m. Good Friday service, which will consist of the narrative, "Is It Nothing to You?" done by Werner Herrmann, director of worship at St. Martin's.

Correction

Johnny M. Cantu, 19, of 466 Railroad Avenue, South San Francisco, who died of a head injury earlier this week when he fell from a car he was pushing, was not involved in a recent shooting incident on San Bruno Mountain, according to a police report. Police said Cantu has been seen on the mountain but was not directly involved in the incident.

Opposition To Transit Link Voiced

Four East Bay BARTD directors have voiced opposition to the proposed study plan that would link the transit line to the International Airport through Daly City.

Most vigorous opponent of the $557,000 study is director Nello J. Bianco of Richmond who informed his fellow board members he could not understand why Contra Costa County taxpayers, already burdened by financial obligations to BARTD, should shoulder further obligations by paying for the extension study.

Bianco reminded the board that San Mateo chose not to join the 75-mile BARTD system in 1962.

The study, which will be partially funded by the Federal government, will be paid for by San Mateo and San Francisco counties ($127,833 in cash and $27,833 in services). BARTD's share set at some $7,500 in cash and $22,500 in services.

Information gathered by the now-defunct West Bay Rapid Transit Authority (WBRTA) during its $1.2 million three-year study, will be turned over to the joint venture group, it was learned.

BARTD general manager B. R. Stokes recommended the directors join the study.

"San Francisco airport is going to have to be served and we'd be better off retaining control of that service," Stokes said.

But Bianco insisted that BARTD drop the matter and "let San Francisco and San Mateo counties do it."

Richard O. Clark, mayor of Albany and recently appointed to the BARTD board, backed Bianco's stand and said he could understand his fellow board members' feelings on the matter.

"We have (those reservations) too," Clark commented.

Two other directors, Stanley Grydyk of Richmond, and George Silliman of Newark, also opposed the BARTD's involvement in the study until more information was available.

The directors agreed to table the study proposal pending further information.

Committed To Vacaville

A San Francisco man who broke a Daly City policeman's nose at the Cow Palace last September has been ordered committed to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day period, of diagnostic observation.

Superior Judge Robert F. Kane Friday ordered criminal proceedings suspended for the defendant, William Penn Tupuola, during the period.

Tupuola, 23, was convicted by a jury of assault with a deadly weapon and felony assault and battery on a police officer.

The officer, Sgt. Lester D. Bastedo, was hit in the face by Tupuola, who was holding a ball bearing in his hand, when the officer attempted to eject Tupuola from the Cow Palace following a disturbance during a wrestling match.

Three Boys Flee Home

A 14-year-old boy was arrested and two others escaped police following an attempted burglary at the Daly City home of Rosella Intaschi.

The victim surprised the trio of youthful thieves inside her Eastlake drive home when she returned Thursday afternoon and called police.

As police units arrived at the scene the boys fled the house.

The two youths that made good their escape ran into the Jefferson High School area.

San Bruno Sprinkler System Authorized

On the recommendation of the citywide beautification committee, San Bruno councilmen have instructed City Mgr. Gerard Vergeer to set aside $2,500 from the contingency fund toward the installation of a sprinkler system on College Drive, near Skyline College.

Leon F. Miller, chairman of the committee informed the councilmen in a letter that the landscape design for the median strip of College Drive has been adopted.

He noted, however, that a ground cover was substituted in place of a proposed lawn area in the interest of economy of maintenance. The college has donated $750 toward the beautification and the Pacific Heights Association donated $300.

Miller stated also that there is a need for a sprinkler system at the site. He suggested that the city hire the landscape firm presently working at the college to do the work.

Both this firm, and the city's engineering staff have estimated the cost to be in the neighborhood of $2,500. The project may need to go out to bid, according to City Engineer Leo Van Dusen.

Laguna Personnel Cutbacks Are Authorized

Faced with a budget that Supt. James Brien said "looks tight this year," the trustees of the Laguna Salada Elementary School District in Pacifica authorized possible cutbacks in nursing and instrumental music personnel last week.

Brien said a decision had to be made last week, inasmuch as might be released by the disallow requires that personnel who must be notified of the possibility by March 15.

The recommendations that trustees approved called for the reduction of nurses (from six to one) and of instrumental music teachers (from five to two).

Considerable discussion evolved around the administrative suggestions, but the trustees went along with Brien's observations that economy had to be considered.

The budget, he said, is balanced at the moment, but it precludes the addition of salary increases and other items.

Whether or not the nursing and music staffs actually will be reduced is a decision to be made at a later date.

"These are not out completely at this point," Brien declared, explaining they were mandated to make a decision on the possibility and to give such notice to the individuals involved.

"We now have to begin studies," he said.

The Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City reported to the same procedure last year and gave the notice of possible release to some 20 music teachers.

But nearly all were retained.

The trustees also approved administration development of a cost of living salary adjustment plan for certificated personnel, as well as a plan for lowering the pupil-teacher ratio of the district.

"The cost of living has risen again this year," Brien pointed out, "and the costs of any proposals for salary increases should be given consideration."

He added, "Hopefully, the teachers' organizations will eventually present salary proposals to the board."

In other business, the board approved final preliminary plans and cost estimate ($359,722.97) for the proposed training center for the mentally retarded facility, financing of which hinged most recently on passage of a bond issue that did not win voter approval.

It's all ready to go, if and when funds become available, according to Supt. Brien.

Trustees are to decide at its March 26 meeting whether or not to accept bids for repairing damage caused by fire at Ortega School early this year.

Two new courses, Electrical Trades Technology and Personal Notehand, have been approved for El Camino High School by the South San Francisco Unified School District.

D.C. Officer Comes To The Rescue

Daly City Patrolman James McHenry interrupted a beating a suspected strongarm robber was giving his 53-year-old victim March 9.

Police Lt. Thomas Culley said the victim, Harold Lee Rutledge, was accosted by the suspect, identified as Larry Jackson Boyd, 20, of 230 Hahn, San Francisco, shortly after 9, in front of 2525 Geneva Avenue.

Rutledge told the suspect he did not have any money, but his wallet was taken anyway.

Culley said the suspect then learned for himself that Lee had no money, returned and assertedly began hitting Lee with his fists and feet.

Patrolman McHenry spotted the altercation in progress, noted Lee's wallet on the ground nearby. Presuming a robbery to be in progress, McHenry drew his .38-caliber revolver and placed Boyd under arrest.

Lee was treated at Mary's Help Hospital for a fractured nose and cuts and bruises.

P-TA Holds Founder Day

Ponderosa P-TA of South San Francisco celebrated Founders Day recently during an afternoon meeting which featured displays of the children's art, a concert by the school band and presentation of an Honorary Service Award to Remi Mui-laert.

Tax Urged For Land Purchase

A special 15-cent county-wide tax to buy North Montara Beach, 36 acres atop San Bruno Mountain and the remainder of the redwoods in Pescadero Creek Park was recommended to the County Board of Supervisors last week by Michael Belangie, chairman of the executive committee of the Regional Planning Committee.

Belangie estimated the cost of the 38-acre beach acquisition at $630,000, the San Bruno Mountain property at $1 million, and the trees at $592,000.

Solution To JFK Traffic Safety Question Expected In Thirty Days

No solution was obtained during last week's meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District regarding a traffic safety problem at John F. Kennedy School.

Satisfaction, if any, to concerned parents was the fact a definite recommendation to rectify the situation is to be forthcoming within 30 days.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood suggested a representative of the district, one from the city, the county, the Hillside Improvement Homeowners and the school's P-TA get together to formulate one proposal they all agree to.

Bob Sands, representing the county engineers, said he thought a plan could be drawn up within the 30 days. Daly City City Councilman Michael DeBernardi said, "I'm sure the city will move just as fast as you want to move."

Mrs. Carol Hill, representing the JFK P-TA, started the discussion by stating that they "want to be reasonable and practical. But we do want adequate protection for our children."

The problem lies in the fact that the proposed Guadalupe Expressway is planned adjacent with three schools causing a dangerous crossing situation. One parent noted that there is also a need for a noise barrier.

Mrs. Hill cited what she considered some "immediate" problems. She referred first to what she called "school-connected automotive" problems in that "everyone" is making an illegal U-turn. She would like the yellow line blacked out to make the turn illegal.

Also that there is a muddy area across from the school,

"which is a temptation for people to stop and park." She said children see their parents and run across to this area without looking where they are going.

Mrs. Hill asked that something be done to prevent parking in this area.

A third request was for a police officer "on a frequent basis" to "put a stop" to double parking. "We've come very close to head-on accidents several times," she said.

She had long-range proposals of a wider sidewalk, a traffic island to facilitate a U-turn and a blinking "stop ahead" yellow light.

Sands said he could not possibly go along with the blacking out of the yellow line to authorize a legitimate U-turn because of the existing bad traffic situation. He said something could be done about preventing parking in the area she described.

As for the police protection, there's that old jurisdictional problem. Part of the enforcement lies with the police of Daly City, and part with the highway patrol. Representatives of both agencies noted they would pursue the problem.

Part of the proposal to rectify the situation possibly could be an attempt to extend the existing East Moltke Avenue through to the JFK school.

This suggestion of trustee Bill Schumacher has been made before, and Sands said "we would recommend this to the board (of supervisors) as a good circulation pattern."

The Guadalupe Expressway, scheduled to begin construction at the end of next summer, will be a four-lane roadway with two eight-foot parking, or shoulder, lanes.

Arrangements For Restaurant Under Study For San Bruno

Easement arrangements are in the works at San Bruno for possible construction of a chain-type eating establishment.

Planning commissioners have recommended the councilmen establish a setback and maintenance strip along the 400 block of Linden Avenue, so a Sizzler Steak House can be erected on the property facing 421 El Camino Real.

Councilmen agreed to check into it on the motion of Councilman Maurice Hamilton, liaison to the planning commission.

A 160-seat eatery is proposed.

Plans are to raze a building presently standing on the site, plus two duplexes behind this building, which are facing Linden Avenue. This space would then be used to make room for a 46-car parking area.

Other planning commission action reported by Hamilton included:

Approval of a lot and garage stall size variance for construction of a two-story, 12-unit apartment at the northeast corner of San Anselmo and San Marco.

An approval of a grading permit for removal of approximately 80,000 cubic yards of dirt for the first stage of 700-units of an apartment on Sneath Lane, referred to as Indian Creek Apartments.

And another grading permit approval for a 1,200-unit complex called Shelter Creek, adjoining Whitmore Way in Crestmoor.

Denial of a use permit for storage of cars and for body work at 109 Santa Lucia, because it is "not a fit use for a residential neighborhood."

And denial of a request for garage space for an additional unit at 848-850 Second Avenue, because necessary space is not available.

There was some "misunderstanding" on this situation. When the council earlier had granted permission to uproot and move a duplex, Building Inspector Melvin Bredlow took it to mean approval of placement on the lot.

San Bruno Man Burned

A San Bruno man, cleaning automotive parts with gasoline Thursday, was burned when fumes were ignited by the pilot light of a water heater.

Ronald Keyser of 1961 Willow Way was burned on the arms and hands, and his hair was singed, in the flash fire, a San Bruno Fire Department spokesman said.

The victim's wife drove him to Kaiser Hospital for treatment after firemen arrived. Keyser extinguished the 11 p.m. fire himself.

Serramonte Unit To Meet ...And Other Items Of Note

The Serramonte High School Association will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the school. Parents of incoming freshmen (in September) are also invited to attend.

"A new social responsibility of Man to the population explosion—and not strict laws—is today's answer to crisis that is resulting in hunger, pollution, ghetto and crime crisis," was the theme of the Adult Forum speaker attended by nearly 100 local residents held last week at Westmoor High School.

Speakers stressed that such education must be combined with steps to liberalize health and abortion laws and to change tax laws that currently encourage large families. A lively and most interesting question and discussion period followed.

Next forum scheduled for March 23 at 7:30 p.m., will deal with "And what is our government doing?" with Samuel Halstead, Mayor of Portola Valley, as the main speaker.

The general luncheon of the Pacifica-Coastside Board of Realtors will be held March 18 at the Half Moon Bay Inn. The speakers will be realtors Dave Reynolds and James Golder of Dolphin Real Estate who will report on a tax seminar they recently attended in Oakland.

Lunch will begin at noon. Immediately following the luncheon session brokers and salesmen will leave for San Mateo to attend a demonstration of computerized listing, buying, selling and analysis of real property.

TERRA NOVA HIGH TOPICS

By Anne Dryden

Pacifica's problems of taxes, beach development and rapid urbanization were discussed at Terra Nova last week when James Swayne, assistant city manager, visited Miss Allegrini's civics classes.

As part of a civics unit in city government, Miss Allegrini has divided her students into four groups. One group is studying Pacifica's most important problems, another is studying the major disadvantages in Pacifica's council-manager type government, a third group is proposing changes for Pacifica's government, and the fourth group is comparing our city's government with San Francisco's.

When the groups started to meet for discussion, they found they were uncertain and uninformed about some of Pacifica's governmental policies. Swayne was then invited to explain Pacifica and her problems.

Pacifica's major problems are obvious to most Pacificans. We know we have high taxes because we have no industries or central business district.

We know our elementary school district is impoverished, and can only spend one-third as much per child as Burlingame's school district. We realize that Pacifica's rapid urbanization has placed pressures on the city's sewage system. We understand that the hassles over beach development in Pacifica are based on the right of private owners to develop their beach property as they please.

These and other problems have been discussed at countless committee meetings in Pacifica, yet the problems still remain. Suggestions, resolution, and cries for action have been proposed, but little action has been taken.

Terra Nova students are experiencing the same difficulties in their study of Pacifica's problems. While it is easy for students to recognize and criticize Pacifica's weak points, they are finding that it is very difficult to formulate solutions for Pacifica's improvement in governmental efficiency and action.

One conclusion has been reached, however: That if Pacificans want a better Pacifica,

THE MARQUEE

The Sicker, The Funnier

Comedy has got to be the shakiest platform on which to build an audience. Simply because humor is no longer universal, not even slapstick.

How far to go, where to jab at society's sensitive areas, and what shape should a joke, or a visual gag take has never been so tenuous. Don Sturdy emphasizes that fact in his opening statement "Politicians have taken satire beyond our wildest dreams". But the Committee keeps trying, exploring with yearly shows while shifting their many members between two theaters and various film projects.

After seven years at improvisational satire, they've come closer to hitting the nerve of outrageous (rather than ribald) satire in the new show which opened last week at 622 Broadway under the permanent direction of Scott Beach.

SICK, IT'S GOT TO BE SICK, to hit hard. Nothing can be sicker than the new film comedy M A S H and nothing has been funnier going back to Laurel and Hardy. If you think the cartoon makers don't recognize that little mental deficiency in us all, consider such kiddie fare as "Tom and Jerry" or "The Roadrunner." How sick can you get!

When the Committee plays it straight funny, as it does for more than 75 per cent of the skits, they fall before they make the point. But when they go "too far" as we used to say, they strike gold. Unfortunately it's only momentarily, as when Ruth Silveira and David Stiers are interrupted during a petty marital argument by intruder Dan Barrows who says "it's my birthday and when I blew out the candles, my wife burned up." That one exploded the audience.

Don Sturdy, Dan Barrows and Bruce Mackey almost make it in "Office," a skit in which the head of an advertising agency tests his flack's loyalty by ordering him to drink his competitor's blood.

THE COMPANY'S TWO BEST EFFORTS are "Cop-Out" which adds Jim Cranna to the trio as a police suspect who doesn't know what to do when the tables are turned.

The best of their new show comes near the end when Jim Cranna and Ed Greenberg sniff around the stage on all fours, committing canine indignities in "Dogs." Since sight gags can never be successfully explained, I can only recommend the intimate revue for the robust and spartan irreverence of its intention, and occasional execution.

Julie Payne joins in the fun of the "Emotional Symphony" with each member offering their grunts and groans or scream to verbalize an emotion. She's again in the full chorus finale when they admit they may have gone too far and throw out a few one-liners to test audience reaction. Ted Kennedy jokes drew 'boos'.

Sugar 'n' Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Well, here it is the day after St. Patrick's Day and I hope you had a grand time. If you had corned beef you might be looking for a way to use up the bit that's left, here are a few tasty suggestions for the delicious remains.

RED FLANNEL HASH

- 1 1/2 cups left over corned beef coarsely chopped
- 1 1/2 cups cold beets, coarsely chopped
- 2 Tablespoons grated onion
- 3 cups chopped cold potatoes
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 Tablespoons light cream

Combine the one and one-half cups each corned beef and beets, three cups potatoes, two tablespoons grated onion, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Add the three tablespoons cream and mix lightly.

Melt fat in a heavy skillet. Spread the meat mixture evenly in the bottom. Cook over low heat without stirring about 30 minutes, or until a nice crust forms on the bottom. (Loosen around edges with a spatula and shake the skillet occasionally to prevent sticking.)

When crust forms on bottom, make a shallow crosswise cut on top. Tip skillet and slip out so that hash folds like an omelet. Serves four generously. If desired top each portion with a poached egg.

NOW IF YOU WANT to be a little bit sneaky and disguise the dish so that your darlings won't realize they are being served a left-over, try this casserole. It combines the corned beef with macaroni and a rich and tasty cheese-mushroom soup sauce.

CORNED BEEF CASSEROLE

- 6 ounces uncooked macaroni
- 2 Tablespoons margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 cups corned beef, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup grated American cheese, that's one-fourth pound
- 1 can mushroom soup
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1 Tablespoon margarine, melted

(Bake in 350-degree oven for one hour.)

Cook the six ounces macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Sauté the half cup chopped onion in the two tablespoons melted butter until tender and transparent. Mix together the macaroni, onion, two cups corned beef, one cup grated cheese and turn into a lightly greased casserole.

Combine the can mushroom soup and the cup milk and heat. Pour over the macaroni mixture. Mix the half cup bread crumbs with the tablespoon melted butter and sprinkle on top. Bake in 350-degree oven for one hour. Serves 6.

Help, help, help. I wanted to include a recipe that combined the whole dinner from St. Pat's day, the corned beef, cabbage and potatoes mixed and cooked in a casserole, but I've lost it, I think it was called Colcannon. Do any of you good cooks have this recipe? I'd surely appreciate it if you could send it to me.

TOLD MY FRIEND Kay Matlock, who lives in San Mateo that I was looking for some different meatless meals and she was kind enough to send this one along to share with you good cooks.

Since asparagus is in season now this recipe is especially nice. Just blanch the stalks by plunging them in boiling water for a few minutes.

BAKED ASPARAGUS AND CHEESE SANDWICHES

- 1 1/2 pounds asparagus, blanched
- 12 slices bread
- 12 slices Swiss cheese
- 4 eggs

- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

- 1 Tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

(Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 to 35 minutes.)

Cut the blanched asparagus spears in half lengthwise; trim the crusts from the twelve slices bread. Arrange six slices on bottom of large baking dish, 13x9x2-inches. Cover each with a slice of Swiss cheese; top each with 2 asparagus spears. Repeat layers, dividing the remaining asparagus between the six sandwiches. Top with the remaining six slices bread.

In a mixing bowl beat the four eggs until light; add the two and one-half cups milk, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one tablespoon chopped onion, blending thoroughly. Pour over sandwiches. Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 minutes.

Sprinkle with the half cup cheddar cheese; continue to bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until custard is set and the top is golden brown. Allow to stand for 10 minutes; cut in six squares and serve.

Quadrasonic Stereo Is Costa Brava First

The Costa Brava in San Francisco is the only restaurant so far with Quadrasonic Stereo. K-101 is pioneering the system, which utilizes two stereo amplifiers, four speakers and four separate channels to produce a stunning "surround stereo." Bill Browning, popular K-101 disc jockey, was at the beautiful new restaurant to introduce The Rising Sons, who entertain for dancing nightly, and Quadrasonic Stereo. Bar man Don Lewis set up the system, which has the hi-fi world in an uproar. Last week, the Executive House Thunderbolt Hotel in Millbrae, under the direction of Sales Director Pat Reilly, held a party introducing the Travel Agencies from all over the United States to the newest link in the fast-growing Executive House chain. Over 450 guests visited the first West Coast hotel, which offers easy access to San Francisco International Airport, plus many other conveniences to travelers. In the March issue of Holiday Magazine, which has a great picture-story about San Francisco, Doros is named as one of the top restaurants. Doros has been named by Holiday in its annual "Best Restaurants in the U.S." for eight consecutive years.

Bill Browning

HAPPY GATHERING — The family of Henry and Diana Chung, hospitable owners of the Inn Of The Sixth Happiness, congregate in the harmonious surroundings of the popular Chinese restaurant for lei sure dining.

Ike Suelzle, an executive of Foster Lunch System Ltd., can often be found on his days off taking in the "sport of kings" at Golden Gate Fields or tee-ing off at any of the golf courses. Understand he is quite a "handicapper" in both capacities. The South San Francisco International Inn Restaurant, one of the very first to invade the Peninsula "food and beverage scene," continues to be one of the most outstanding in all fields. Manager Doug Young anticipates large dining crowds on Easter Sunday, with the reservation book filling fast. Until the Italian archway joining Tino's dining room and cocktail lounge is opened, you won't know that expansion and remodeling work has been going on. The completion date is drawing near. The Sinaloa Mexican cantina and Luz Garcia are synonymous with each other, as the personable club owner has been in her North Beach location for years. Mexican dinners, Mexican entertainment—everything as authentic as possible. Weekend special at the House of Troy: Lobster, abalone or prime rib. The Top Sirloin dinner for two is just $7.50 Sunday through Thursday. The Shadows of San Mateo will count plenty of Irishmen among its German food fanciers on St. Patrick's Day. The Shadows' soups are in a "bowl" of their own. And that's no blarney!

Manager Claude Schroeder encourages parents to bring their children when dining at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. Youngsters have their own special menu from which to choose. For the finest in pizzas, suggest you try Romano's Italian restaurant, located in Pacifica's picturesque Rockaway Beach. Small, medium or large, Enrico Romano knows how to prepare them just the way you like them. Bonnie Marge Brandon, organist at Baron's, will be singing all the old tunes of Ireland, come St. Patrick's Day. Decorated in the traditional green and white, Baron's will celebrate the "wearin' o' the green" by giving away prizes every hour on the hour, starting at 2 p.m. Irish hor d'oeuvres will be served and Marge guarantees a "lucky Leprechaun" with each drink. The exotic dances and typical Mexican folk dances of Rene De Carlo are among the show highlights of Finocchio's. The folk costumes and China Poblana wardrobe of this gifted female impersonator add greatly to the success of his performances. Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's Marina District rates "tops" with wine connoisseurs as well as steak lovers. Lehr's wine cellar is stocked with an outstanding selection of domestic and imported bottlings including rare Chateau Lafite Rothschild, 1960.

Barney's Casino Enjoys Big Business Increase

Luke Heiman and Lou Vasek, who guide the South Lake Tahoe Barney's Casino activities, are to be commended for a job well done. The best February in the history of the Stateline club was recorded last month. Barney's is "Greyhound Terminal" for bus passengers who enjoy "Entertainment the Nevada Way." Ditto, for those who take advantage of the Park Avenue Tours drive-up package. If it's fun, action and bonus refunds you seek, then don't pass up Barney's. Understand Lucien Sabella, owner of A. Sabella's restaurant on Fisherman's Wharf, has hung up his skis and will concentrate on golf. Easier to hit a golf ball than climb a mountain, says the conscientious sportsman. Joe and Lou Ercoli of the South San Francisco Leaning Tower restaurant are now taking reservations for Easter Sunday dinner, which will be served from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK — How many votes can $200 buy? Shame.

BUT, THE BIGGEST QUESTION circulating through the North County these days is: Who's gonna win the council election? We would hope The People win. Whomever they put into office is the person they will have to live with for the next four years — unless, of course, they decide to spring loose after a year and seek another office. Some people do!

SAM HALSTEAD, Portola Valley councilman, wears a "Harass your local politician" lapel button. So get in there folks and start harassing. A word of caution: Don't pick on Halstead. He's got six husky boys to support him.

Halstead told a group of Daly City Rotarians the other day that some kids in Hillsborough are planting weed (the kind some people smoke) and the caretakers take care of the flourishing plant not knowing what the heck it really is. Can this be true? Or is Sam harassing us?

ANOTHER GROUP of kids at Serramonte High are circulating a "love-it-or-leave-it" petition in the wake of a petition condemning school trustee Mrs. Jane Powell for some remarks she made at a public meeting two weeks ago. As the late Adlai Stevenson once remarked: "I would rather have them talking than fighting." Ditto.

And here we are at the Thomas Edison P-TA meeting where veteran policeman Ed Guzman has just been elected vice-president of the P-TA. Congrats.

THAT JOKE (???) realtor Jack Cooper told at the Baccala Club (First Cabin restaurant) the other day was so bad owner Neil Morehouse almost crunched him on the head with his crutch. Neil's been hobbling around with a busted foot for the past three months but he's not saying how the Shanks' Mare got in that condition. Wonder why?

DALY CITY CITY MANAGER David R. Rowe (Don't call him Dave) has revealed that 11 attorneys and 65 doctors, chiropractors, dentists and optometrists have paid up business licenses in the city. The matter was brought up by retiring councilman Edward J. Dennis at a recent study session when he spotted the name of a local attorney on the business license list. Dennis thought it might bolster the city coffers to check into just how many attorneys have paid up licenses, and just how many don't. Far as we can determine the first part was answered, now how about the second half of the question? Hello, City Hall? Hello, Hello...

WATCH FOR A BIG testimonial dinner in May honoring Dennis. The "Old pro" is stepping aside after 20 years on the council. Concern of the testimonial's sponsors is if they can find a suitable hall big enough to handle the turnout.

TURN ABOUT — Frank Wheless, long-time San Bruno civic leader, has in the process of praising a couple of people who had donated their time toward youth projects in the city, when councilman Karney Barberian interjected that Wheless should be the one being honored for all his efforts on behalf of youngsters.

Before Barberian was through with his comments the council unanimously voted to commend Wheless. The flabbergasted reply from Wheless: "What's going on Karney, you running for reelection?"

When 'Moonlighting' Is Praiseworthy!

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Two Daly City policemen are "moonlighting" with the blessing of chief of police Roland Petrocchi.

What's more, the pair sometimes use police department equipment on their extra job.

Rather than reprimand either police captain David Hansen or sergeant John J. Kolbmann the chief praises them for their outside activities.

Matter of fact, Federal Bureau of Investigation director J. Edgar Hoover recently sent both men his personal congratulations for the contribution they have made in police work through their articles on the use of television in nationwide police departments.

In an article entitled, "Can you use television in your department," which appears in the FBI's worldwide law enforcement bulletin, Hansen and Kolbmann point out the uses of TV in departments and how this electronic equipment can best aid in training new men and "oldtimers" alike.

The officers point out that there can be six general areas where TV may be applied within the department: administration, intelligence, surveillance, training, security and prosecution.

One way the TV system can be used is in disseminating information from the chief "on down the chain" to the men.

In this way the men on the beat can hear the messages directly from the chief and there can be no mistaking what he is trying to get across.

Video tape can be used to film demonstrators or prisoners being booked in jail for later use as evidence or for identification purposes during police briefings.

In the past, regular movie film was used. However, video is cheaper and can be used over again. Processing of video is also much faster than movie film.

Get Informed Now

SITTING IN A MEETING of the parents of some of the students of Daly City's Serramonte High School, it became apparent that both blacks and whites were speaking from a woeful lack of understanding.

I came away wishing someone would pass a law requiring adults to read at least one article a week about the social conditions of our country.

To persons wondering why black men with good salaries and responsible positions condone black militancy, I suggest, as a starter, Ernest Holsendolph's article "Middle-Class Blacks Are Moving Off the Middle." It may be found in the December 1969 issue of Fortune Magazine.

Quoting W.E.B. Du Bois, Holsendolph writes, "One ever feels his twoness, an American, a Negro; two souls, two thoughts, two unreconciled strivings; two warring ideals in one dark body, whose dogged strength alone keeps it from being torn asunder."

ON ONE HAND, Holsendolph explains, the middle class Negro relates to the white men with whom he works and by whom he lives, on the other hand he cannot forget, and often is not allowed to forget that he is a Negro.

This inner conflict pushes the individual towards a new consciousness of the identity of the Negro race. "The second soul described by Du Bois, dictates that however prosperous and comfortable the fortunate black becomes as an American, he feels himself linked inescapably to legions of black poor."

Holsendolph explains that the new consciousness of identity accounts, at least partially for the way many Negroes react to turbulent situations; similar to that which led to the trouble in Serramonte High School.

It is apparent, he believes in the dress of students who sport Afro-style hairdos and dress in dashikis. It is one reason lying behind the talk of liberation and of "being black and being proud."

There is much, much more in the Holsendolph article that explains the Negro mind and accounts for the present trend toward an uncompromising stance.

To people who are impatient with the progress in civil rights, I suggest an editorial in the November 1969 issue of Fortune. In it Max Ways explains that the United States has become an education centered society.

UNFORTUNATELY, this measure of equality not only shows black Americans to be in a disadvantaged position today, but makes certain that group equality cannot be attained for many years.

He deplores that during a period from 1958-68 the proportion of non-whites (Negroes make up more than 90 percent of this category) in the total population rose at a compound annual rate of eight-tenths of one percent, reaching 12.1 per cent. Meanwhile the total non-whites enrollment in colleges rose at a rate of two point one per cent, reaching eight per cent.

These rates of increase, extrapolated, would not meet at proportionate equality until the year 2000. Thus not until well after the year 2000 will Negroes get a proportionate share of such jobs as professor, university president, and top corporation executive.

Editor, The Post:

The following letter is in reference to Frank La Pierre's recent column item regarding my investigation of Folsom Prison. Mr. LaPierre made several factual errors that deserve clarification.

The first public statement that I made after I was released from the prison was that I was fully aware that eight days in prison did not make me an expert on the California penal system. Mr. LaPierre, through the use of innuendo implies that I stated otherwise. Secondly, again in contrast to the column, I did not spend a week in the cell by myself. After the first three days in maximum security, I was allowed to take my exercise in the "yard" and had the opportunity to speak with hundreds of inmates and correctional officers. Third, one of the stipulations that I agreed upon with prison officials before I went in was that I could not pose as a convict. Folsom Prison is chiefly a recidivism facility and it was agreed that I could not possibly fool the seasoned inmates into believing I was a two or three time loser. The officials stated that I would be immediately "pegged as a square John" and that the suspicion and hostility aroused by this knowledge would be detrimental to the entire investigation and perhaps my safety.

Fourth, Mr. LaPierre stated, "unless memory fails us, Ryan spent a whole day in the Watts area school." Apparently, Mr. LaPierre's memory did fail. Two years ago, I spent two weeks living and teaching in Watts, although I agree with Mr. LaPierre's statement that I came away from Watts with some definite opinions on the Los Angeles school system. Finally, Mr. LaPierre is well aware I made a surprise inspection tour of the jail in San Bruno, and worked with San Mateo County Board of Supervisors and Mayor Joseph Alioto in obtaining some $30,000 worth of security improvements for the facility.

If your columnist sees no value in investigative reports, that is certainly his decision. I sincerely believe, however, that my experience in Folsom Prison gives me a perspective on the penal system that is helpful to me in the Legislature and that will ultimately help to reduce the cost of crime in total tax dollars. It may also reduce the amount of trouble and misery to the average citizen who is the VICTIM robbing someone who lives in a law-abiding home in our county.

Dreamy Refuge

The way things are going, middle-aged America often takes refuge in dreams. One of its fondest visions is that of bearded and bearded defendants being carried off by the marshal after convictions for leading the campus revolt. As the dream has it, with the incarceration of these leaders for no less than 100 years each, the college revolution collapses. Students spurn the streets for the classroom. Saddle shoes and bobby sox replace sandals and serapes.

It is a tidy dream. But, like most dreams, it lacks reality and is founded on a dangerous delusion. It assumes that there is an identifiable leadership of the college revolt and that apprehension of the "top command" will solve the problem.

The assumption does not seem to be supported by fact. Campus leadership is diverse, diffuse, and emerges in different individuals and combinations. This was well illustrated at the S.D.S. meeting of last year when student revolutionary leadership fragmented. Under these circumstances, time spent on the "great conspiracy theory" is total loss. Don Quixote had a better chance at the windmill.

Not only is the leadership changing, amorphous and hard to identify, but the legal tools available to strike at conspiracies are complex and difficult to use. Such crimes are hard to prove and awkward procedural and constitutional questions plague the prosecution. Authorities are inclined to reason from overt acts backwards, rather than from proof of conspiracy to completed criminal acts. The Chicago Seven trial was a case in point. With an eager prosecution, a more than willing judge, and an intelligent jury, the conspiracy charge failed after months of expensive proceedings.

The consequences of acting on the dream is delay, confusion and failure. Far better to prosecute individual defendants for individual and provable criminal acts. Thus, prosecutions would not depend upon such ephemeral concepts as state of mind and intent, but upon the facts of specific individual offenses such as arson, assault, battery, etc.

To do this would require less and result in shorter and more manageable trials. One remembers the court martial of the sit-down strikers in San Francisco's Presidio. True enough, sentences were later considered unduly harsh and reduced, but the directness of method worked. There have been no such mutinies reported since.

So the means of calming things down in the colleges are the eyewitness, the camera, and rapid, fair and effective justice that is not afraid to impose serious sentences for serious crimes. Without followers, there are no leaders, and the leadership will find it impossible to lead if students, for very practical reasons, refuse to be led.

Letters To The Editor

Ryan Raps Columnist; Student Ired

Editor, The Post:

May I ask as a senior in high school, "What's come over this world?", or better yet, "What's come over us?" Have we all totally gone crazy in a mass of pure chaos and confusion?

What's in store not only for the so-called older and younger generations, but for the future generations? Are they going to be a handful of rejects in mental wards from drug abuse, or a bunch of frustrated, degenerate Communists?

I classify drug abuse and Communism together, because these are two examples of our own ruin and destruction.

For instance let's use Westmoor High School as an example, a high school which is supposed to be run by school officials — not by the "hippie" students and teachers who are interested in "making love, not war." I ask you pays school taxes? Parents do, but only to have school property destroyed, and to have students passing out drugs in the hallway, and to have themselves literally passing out because of an overdose of drugs?

But whom are we to blame? The school principal, Mr. Kollmann, the police or shall I say "Pig" as they are so often referred to? No, it's us as a community; why don't we untie their hands and let them do the job they were meant to do? Aren't they the ones we look up to; don't they represent idealism and democracy? Then why won't anyone let them do their jobs?

I'll tell you why: because of long-haired students who protest against the war in Vietnam and wear black armbands, and because of teachers who go on strike and encourage students to do the same thing.

Doesn't anyone realize what's going on? Doesn't anyone see that these tactics are of Communist influence? In fact, the whole "hippie movement" is Communist inspired. Now that it's in our schools, a place where learning and the understanding of basic human needs is supposed to take place, where is the ending point — over our dead bodies?

Can anyone justify a teacher standing in front of a classroom of students and calling our boys in uniform "a bunch of glorified killers"? Now if that's not a lowering of moral standards and Communistic idealism, then there's no difference between right and wrong.

Can you even imagine a student taking the principal of a high school in front of the Civil Liberties Union and demanding that he is wrong about a certain rule he posted in that particular school, a rule that stated no armbands should be worn in school during the Moratorium march, a rule which shouldn't have been broken but was because of a student who is interested in love and eternal peace — who has not learned life isn't all roses.

Or how about students today not saluting the American flag, and what's worse, not wanting to? Now you tell me the principal's hands aren't tied, or the police's hands aren't tied. I really believe we're slowly but surely being taken over by Communism; democracy is being misused every day, more and more.

Democracy is a strange word today — some think that it means you call the police "pigs" and spit in their faces, riot and protect, and blow up police stations.

Then I finally ask, is it right for a teacher to invite students to "turn on" with him at his so-called pad, and then for students to wear "re-hire" buttons for this particular teacher.

These are the bad seeds which must be removed from our public schools — not only the teachers but students as well. If they want to have love and eternal peace, let them live in their dream world. Let the good students who want to learn, and the teachers who want to teach make this a better place to live in.

I think this just isn't a mild phase people are going through. I feel it's much more serious than anyone wants to admit. It's a degrading of law and order. Where is it all leading to? Examine the evidence. And then I'll ask once again — "What's come over this world?"

Horse Show To Open At Cow Palace

A record number of young equestrians is preparing to saddle-up for the 1970 Grand National Junior Horse Show which opens next Thursday at the Cow Palace.

"This year there is a 25 percent increase in the number of entries and horses over last year," said Joseph G. Moore, horse show chairman and a director of the Cow Palace. "and we have had to expand the show from three to four days to accommodate all the riders."

Nearly 600 youngsters from throughout the West Coast will participate with 700 horses, compared with 564 horses last year. The riders are allowed to compete in more than one event, and the 2,100 entries is nearly 500 more than were in last year's show.

"Because of the increased number of entries, we also have expanded the classes from 46 to 86 this year," said Moore. Hunter and jumper divisions will be held Thursday and Friday and the All-Western division will be Saturday and Sunday. There will be no eliminations.

A Renaissance Fire Captain From SSF

Since 1962 Captain James H. Meidl, South San Francisco Fire Department, has been teaching firemen a course in hazardous material, safety personnel and modern industrial materials at College of San Mateo.

Captain Meidl is a man of action. Since there was no text for the course — he wrote his first book Flammable Hazardous Materials. The book is published by Glencoe Press and appropriately, has a red cover.

Captain Meidl's second book, already written, will be out around April and deals with toxicity and why materials explode. He is also planning a third book on fire tactics.

"Guess what the required text will be at CSM," Captain Meidl said, playing the straight man. "I also give golf lessons on the side," he quipped.

The congenial captain reports his first book took about eight months and his second book required about a year. With Chief John Marchi, Captain Meidl recently represented his book to the West Orange Avenue Library. Dr. Robert S. Alvarez, library administrator, accepted the book and praised the 17-year veteran of the SSF for his diligence and dedication to the fire department.

Captain Meidl is also a perfectionist — "Spell the chief's name right," he deadpans.

New Motion By Accused

Ernest (Doc) Holbrook, 22-year-old Pacifica man accused of murder in the fatal shooting of a 17-year-old San Bruno youth last December, withdrew his plea of not guilty by reason of insanity before Superior Judge Robert F. Kane Friday in Redwood City.

His motion to have the charge reduced to manslaughter will be ruled on by Judge Kane next Thursday at 9 a.m. Date for a trial also will be set at that time.

Holbrook is accused of shooting Jose F. Vega, an Oceana High School student, last December 23 following a row over a pool game at a Pacifica beer and wine shop.

Richard Lockard Wins S.S.F. Honor

Richard Lockard has been named South San Francisco's Person of the Year for his outstanding work with the Police Athletic League.

Lockard will be honored by the YMI, sponsors of the 20th annual award. Announcement of the award was made jointly by Gerald Quinlan, chairman of the selection committee, and Harry Parks, president of the YMI Council.

Lockard was recommended for the award by James Swinford, president of the PAL, and endorsed by 11 officers, and directors of the police-sponsored organization.

Swinford, in praising Lockard, noted, "We were contemplating the termination of the PAL program... as we were deeply in debt and thoroughly convinced the community had no desire to support such a program."

At that meeting in 1964 Lockard, a retired Army Major with a chronic respiratory ailment, sold the police officers on conducting a vigorous campaign for funds and to seek "entire community participation." Swinford recalls, "Dick's enthusiasm stirred us to action."

Results of that dream of "entire community participation" was realized this year on January 23 when the PAL held a dinner awarding 200 boys in the baseball program, 100 boys in the soccer program, 180 boys and girls in bowling, 10 boys and girls in the shooting program, and 15 Police Explorer Scouts.

Lockard and his wife, Rose, reside at 54 Escanero drive. They have four married children.

Burlingame's Greg Houts arrives a little too late at second base and South San Francisco's Jim Bell makes putout in second inning of Wednesday's game at Washington Park. Burlingame won the game, 10-5.

Gardeners Throw Jeff For A Loss

It's starting out to be "one of those years" for the Jefferson High School baseball team and coach Tom Martinez.

The Indians were to have played their first game of the season on March 10 at Marchbank Field against Crestmoor's Falcons but at the last moment the Daily City Recreation Department gardeners refused to allow the game to begin citing "poor field conditions" as the reason.

"We had practiced there just a few days before and everything seemed okay," Martinez said. "That means our next three games are all going to have to be shuffled around while the grass grows green at Marchbank."

Martinez himself is just recently back from a two-week layoff after the pitching arm of his mechanical "Iron Mike" tried to throw his leg instead of a baseball during batting practice. That cost him 17 stitches.

When he returned to school too quickly after the accident the leg became infected causing another delay in his practice schedule.

Then, during practice two days ago, Martinez hit a ground ball to sophomore third baseman Dave Mibelli. The hard smash took a bad hop, bounced up and broke Mibelli's nose sending him to the sidelines for a few weeks.

Aside from that, Jeff is set for 1970.

Hernandez Is Oceana Hero

Thanks to a timely single by Art Hernandez, the Oceana High baseball team defeated Mission High March 11.

Hernandez, with two outs and the Sharks trailing, 4-3, in the bottom of the seventh, singled home two runs to lead Oceana to a 5-4 victory over Mission at Big Rec.

Mark Faden was the winning pitcher as the Sharks got their first victory in four tries.

Bearcat Nine Trumps Tigers

The San Mateo High School Bearcats, sparked by the hitting of Bob Sakai and the fielding of Chris Altemand, scored an 8-4 victory over Terra Nova Thursday to improve their practice season record to 4-2.

Sakai ripped three hits off Terra Nova pitching, including a triple in the second inning. Joe Serena was the winning pitcher for the Bearcats.

Panthers Top South SF, 10-5

Consecutive bases-loaded singles by Joe Schembri, Hank Sauer and Bob Jacobsen enabled the Burlingame Panthers to register a 10-5 victory over South San Francisco at Washington Park Wednesday.

Schembri, Sauer and Jacobsen accounted for five runs and ignited a big eighth-run fourth inning for the Panthers. Stan Jackson was the winning pitcher.

JUST TWO WEEKS AGO we bragged about how we had refrained from commenting on the impending Curt Flood anti-trust against baseball because we felt that there wasn't much we could add to the reams of copy which had already been devoted to it — and then went on to comment on the impending Flood anti-trust suit against baseball.

Yes, you've guessed it. We're going to make another comment about the Flood anti-trust suit against baseball. Actually, we should have made this particular comment two weeks ago, with the other one, but our memory isn't as sharp as it once was.

For weeks now a lesson which we once learned in a logic class has been bouncing around the back of our mind, but, surprisingly — considering the small area in which the potential idea had to bounce around in — the long forgotten lesson didn't come sharply into focus until the last 24 hours.

It concerned a lesson on false analogies using a statement by the great Scot essayist and historian, Thomas Carlyle, as an example. Carlyle, in dismissing the arguments for representative democracy, said that if a captain of a sailing vessel had to take a vote of his crew every time he wanted to do something, he would never get around Cape Horn. It was pointed out that the analogy ignored the distinction between the lawmaking and the executive branches of constitutional democracies, among other things.

In other words, it's fallacious to compare a sailing ship with a country like, say, the United States... an industrial complex of better than 200 million people.

This lesson, of course, reminded us that Flood and his backers and followers are comparing a business contract made by a multi-million dollar sports firm operating in a free country and paying exceedingly well for services received, to slavery as it was practiced better than a century ago. That, fans, is a false analogy.

By the way, Carlyle also said, "Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness."

Yeh, Curt, yeh!

AND SO, with the intellectual portion of this column concluded, let us remind one and all that the American Basketball Association opened its inaugural season on Friday the 13th (Oakland Oaks against the Anaheim Amigos, Oakland Coliseum), and we wonder how often they'll regret that after they merge with the NBA.

AS LONG AS WE'VE introduced the ABA, we might as well divulge the following fascinating fact before the league desolves: here are four players named Jones in the NBA!

That's right, folks, four, count 'em, four. There are Jim and Steve Jones of New Orleans; Larry of Denver and Wilbert of Miami. Things were even tougher for ABA announcers last year, when there were also Johnny of Kentucky and Nick of Dallas. Luckily, they had the grace to get released before they drove home ABA play-by-play men nuts.

You may be well and properly wondering just what significance in the grand scheme of things this last item carried. Actually, none. It's just that sometimes we get these wild, crazy impulses....

NOW, TO GET BACK to sounding like an expert.

It has occurred to us that now that the Giants have joined the Astros in the phony world and installed Astroturf at Candlestick, they may very well have ruined their old stand-by (until last year) reliever, Frank Linzy, and their most hopeful acquisition (according to the Giant flackery), Frank Reberger. The reason, of course, is that both Linzy and Reberger are essentially low-ball pitchers. This means that they both (especially Linzy) owe their effectiveness to their ability to force opposing batters to hit the ball on the ground. On a slow infield like the one Candlestick used to have, that was a fine thing, because it meant more potential doubleplays. But on the new slick-fast Astroturf, forcing round balls may prove to be a detriment.

Linzy had trouble enough last year when they hoisted the strike zone and he found many of his knee-cap pitches which the year before had been perfect strikes were in '69 being called balls. This meant he had to bring the ball up a few inches... and, well, as they say in the cliches, baseball is a game of inches. One or two inches began transforming perfect pitches into gopher balls.

How Linzy will handle the additional handi-cap of a hockey-rink infield will be interesting to observe. Or, perhaps, sad.

Looking on the bright side of it, the Astro infield may prove a boon to reliever Don McMahon, thus canceling out whatever tortures Linzy might suffer. McMahon is a high ball pitcher, which means a lot of pops and flies. Of course, that might not be too good, either, in the Candlestick wind, and especially if Jimmy Ray Hart recovers sufficiently to play left field on a regular basis.

SPEAKING OF BASEBALL'S inches, we wonder what will become of the natural extension, pun intended, of baseball's experiment with wider outfields.

If you came in late, what they'll be doing, during the 60 games to be played in the Gulf Coast Rookie League in Florida during July and August, is flaring the foul lines out beyond first and third bases. This will constitute a three degree widening, which will produce 12 extra feet of fair territory at each outfield wall (if the wall is 320 feet from home plate) and add a total of 1,771 square feet to fair territory. That comes out to giving the batter a 2.8 percent better chance of getting a hit.

(Previous proposals to widen the foul lines starting at home plate have been rejected because such a plan would distort the distance from home to second and upset basic patterns of infield play and base running.)

The argument for such an arrangement is, of course, that now all the shots which have been pulled foul by inches for all of these years will fall in, aiding the hitter and adding more excitement to baseball with more breathlessly fair homers and more dashes into second and third bases because of the extra base hits such new dimensions will cause.

Of course, there will still be balls which will be falling foul by inches, and in a few years, the field will become wider to accommodate those barely-missed opportunities. The cycle will continue. And then comes the logical extension of the experiment that we were talking about. Eventually a baseball field will become a 180 degree playing surface with no such thing as a foul ball — like in cricket.

And — well — that just wouldn't be cricket.

North County Candidates Get COPE Endorsement

The Committee on Political Education (COPE) of the Central Labor Council of San Mateo County, AFL-CIO, announced last week that the following candidates for city offices have received the endorsement of Organized Labor:

DALY CITY—Louis J. Papan, McRobert Stewart, Bernard J. Lyett and William Schumacher.

PACIFICA—Berenice Palmer, Aubrey Lunley, Ken Addelman, David Foster.

SAN BRUNO—Anthony Governor, Robert Price, Karney Barberian.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO—Patrick Ahern, William Borba.

BRISBANE—Julius Stern, William Lawrence.

A spokesman for COPE said that over fifty candidates had been interviewed Saturday morning March 7, 1970, in San Mateo by delegates from 38 local unions in the county.

Candidates were scheduled for half-hour interviews with teams of union members from the candidates' city.

The Committees then made their recommendations to the official body of COPE which met March 9, 1970.

Robert O. Delzell, secretary of COPE stated that an earlier news release listing three COPE endorsed candidates in South San Francisco was in error.

Papan Wants Safety Talks Accelerated

"I fail to understand why anyone would try to equate a human life with money," Daly City council candidate Louis J. Papan said today.

Papan, father of three small children, was discussing safety measures along the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway in the vicinity of both the John F. Kennedy and Colma K-6 schools.

Traffic generated by the Parkway passes both schools and parents of children attending the schools are clamoring for a pedestrian overpass in the area, along with other traffic safety improvements, to safeguard their children.

"Everyone agrees a plan must be mapped out to protect these children, now and in the future, from being struck down by a careless motorist," Papan said.

Papan said he deplored the time-consuming bickering that is going on between city and county officials over who will pay for these improved safety measures.

"The close proximity of the schools to the increasingly busy Parkway is a bad situation, to say the least, but something must be done immediately to correct what is now only a threat to our children's safety, but could well become a very real tragedy," he said.

Papan said he felt talks on this vital matter could be accelerated between city and county staffs in a concerted effort to "get the job done."

Meanwhile, interim measures might be taken, including stationing of uniformed policemen at the schools to direct traffic while children are going to or coming from classes; a steel guard rail erected along the sidewalk to provide protection from cars, and similar traffic controls that can be instituted with little or no additional cost.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, has expressed "shock" over alleged misuse of federal education funds by the state.

"Federal funds are being spent for purposes for which they were not intended, though it remains to be determined whether this misuse is bad judgment or calculated," Ryan declared.

At a legislative hearing on the Department of Education's budget, representatives of the Legislative Analyst disclosed:

—$25,000 was spent to provide clerical assistance to the office of the special assistant to the state board, formerly Dr. Edwin Klotz.

—$5,000 was spent in "innovative exchange" for such purposes as the development of "Moral Guidelines" and the travel expenses of Dr. Klotz to Stuttgart, Germany, to attend the 39th International Congress of Americanists.

—Several thousand dollars were spent to provide driver training to 500 department employees.

—Many projects are duplicative and uncoordinated.

"It is highly questionable," said Ryan, "whether any of these expenditures strengthens the Department of Education or adds to its ability to serve public education in the way the funds are intended to be used."

According to McRobert Stewart, Daly City Council hopeful, "The drug problem is one of the most distasteful in our history, and I dislike it as a political thing—but it has to be recognized for what it is."

"I feel," McRobert explained, "that as a Councilman I would urge the solidifying and bringing-together various efforts of schools, city and federal government, rather than going 16

Stewart further maintains, "Our city should have the responsibility of funneling this information to our police department, which is recognized as one of the best drug-informed departments in the country."

"I don't believe there is any one group, or profession, who has all the knowledge or answers on drugs," he said. "It is a universal problem and we must attack it from the root."

Stewart emphasized that the program should be correlated with the combined effort of the schools and parents in order to get "this monkey off our backs."

"We must make it a 'family affair' to properly understand the problems, dealing with them intelligently and realistically fighting this thing off!"

Arlen Gregorio, contender for the 12th District Senate seat now held by Richard Dolwig, today announced the appointment of Roy Archibald, Ray Gabel, Thomas Jenkins, Rodney Minotti, and Frank Pacelli as his campaign chairmen.

The John J. Murray for Supervisor Campaign Committee will open its headquarters Friday in the Skyway Building at San Carlos Airport, it was announced today.

Campaign Chairman Paul Hupf of Daly City said the facility will be located at 605 Skyway Boulevard, San Carlos.

San Mateo Vice Mayor John J. Murray Jr., is seeking a post on the County Board of Supervisors from the Third District in the June 2 election.

An attorney, Hupf was a former councilman and city attorney of Daly City and North San Mateo County Municipal Court Judge.

Murray tossed his hat into the supervisorial campaign after gaining five years of government experience on the San Mateo City Council as councilman, vice mayor and mayor.

San Bruno city council candidate Ted Long has come on strong in response to Mayor Neil Christal's criticism of the interstate 380 "controversy."

Christal is up for re-election. "The Highway Department has agreed to come to San Bruno to talk, not hold public hearings," said Long. "This will be a purely informational meeting. The department has been to San Bruno time and time again, but in the non-election years Mr. Christal did not make issue of it."

"The incumbents in this election are reaching to find any record to run on," continued Long. "The people are tired of being put on."

"Mr. Christal has completely ignored the dust, noise and traffic problem on the pretense that the freeway might look better."

"There is no way that you will ever convince me that a huge slab of concrete can ever be beautiful," said Long. "But what of the homeowners' complaints of noise and dust and the motorist complaints as they sit in mountains of traffic while Mr. Christal is holding meetings? Would it not have been better to have participated in the first place? The freeway is an unfortunate necessity, but, it should not be used as a political football."

"It is my position that to accept the responsibility of this office (the council) means more than attending meetings and haphazardly supporting or opposing programs.

"It means more than the ability to accept credit for programs parked by others simply because you voted for or against it."

"I would prefer to see this election move ahead to the issues," said Long. "Let's talk about qualifications, experience and ability, and I'm confident the voters will make the proper selection."

Stiffer punitive measures should be taken against those persons—regardless of age—who are convicted of turning in false fire alarms, prospective Daly City council candidate Louis J. Papan said today.

Papan, North County realtor and former Federal Bureau of Investigation special agent, agreed with firemen and local citizens that "something must be done, and quickly, to curb the increasing number of false alarms being turned in."

During the past year Daly City firemen sped to 328 false alarms in various sections of the city.

"These men risk their lives and equipment every time they answer one of these alarms. If a fire unit is busy answering these alarms they obviously cannot be used if a real emergency arises," Papan said.

He said those persons who are apprehended for sounding such alarms are only "slapped on the wrist and released."

The candidate supported the recent stand members of the International Municipal Signal Association took at their recent convention in asking for stiffer fines and penalties against persons convicted of giving a false alarm that might injure or kill firefighters and wreck equipment.

San Bruno council candidate Dick Griffith received some answers to a raft of questions he directed to city councilmen at their March 9 meeting.

He wrote a lengthy letter to the councilmen in which he urged them to cancel a dirt hauling permit of Piombo Construction Company. In so doing, he said, the councilmen would hasten the completion of construction of Sneath Lane.

Councilmen filed the letter after City Manager Gerard Veeger said there is no connection between completion of Sneath Lane and the dirt hauling permit.

Further, according to City Engineer Leo Van Dusen, Sneath Lane is ready for final paving but this has been held up because of bad weather.

Griffith's letter stated that San Bruno is a "soft touch" for dirt hauling at the expense of the citizenry.

When the councilmen moved to send out a newsletter in the near future to explain the city's proposed housing element, Griffith asked as a council candidate for equal "space." He received no answer to the query.

Griffith also sought information concerning abatement of a

Interest in the election of a successor to Superior Court Judge Edmund Scott increased Thursday as a fifth candidate got into the race.

He is Albert E. Polonsky, city attorney of Daly City and former mayor.

Polonsky was one of eight men to file notices of intention to run after Judge Scott announced that he would not seek re-election and would retire at the end of the year.

Only five, including Polonsky, have actually paid the $318 filing fee, however, and only one, John J. McKenna of San Mateo, has filed his completed nomination papers.

Others in the race are Robert J. Dell'Ergo, a Redwood City lawyer, Municipal Court Judge Robert E. Carey of Atherton, and Maurice K. Hamilton, a San Bruno attorney and member of the city council there.

Arlen F. Gregorio, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Twelfth Senatorial District, got some unexpected competition yesterday when William A. Wacker, a Belmont contractor, took out nomination papers.

Three men are in the running on the Republican side in the race to succeed State Senator Richard J. Dolwig, who announced that he would retire from public office because of ill health. The candidates are Assemblyman Carl Britschgi, Mayor Sam Halstead of Portola Valley, and Gerald E. Hagan, a San Mateo lawyer.

Candidates who filed completed nomination papers yesterday and thereby qualified for the June 2 primary election ballot included: Municipal Court Judge Frank J. Cormaich; William Weber, one of four candidates for the Republican nomination in the Twenty-sixth (South County) Assembly District; County Controller Edward J. McGuire Jr.; County Assessor Jack H. Estes, and Frank Spadarella, a candidate in the Republican primary in the Twenty-seventh (North County) Assembly District.

GOP Names New Officers In N. County

The North County Young Republicans held their elections for 1970 officers, announced North County president, Dick Geno. The newly elected officers are:

President, John Penna from South San Francisco; vice president, Bill McDonald from South San Francisco; secretary, Dolly Schreckengost from South San Francisco, and treasurer, Sally Selbman from Daly City.

The new officers take office at the March meeting March 17 at the New Southern Restaurant, 975 El Camino Real in South San Francisco. The guest speaker will be Assembly Candidate Frank Spadarella. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. and is open to the public.

Dick Geno, retiring North County president, now chairman of San Mateo County Young Republicans reported that membership for North County YR's has more than tripled in the past year, with active membership now at 114.

Political Roundup

Priolo Is Speaker At SSF Meeting

"Reapportionment — 1971" will be the topic of Assemblyman Paul V. Priolo's talk Thursday morning, March 26, at the International Inn, South San Francisco.

Sponsored by the Spadarella for Assembly Committee, the breakfast meeting is open to the general public, with ladies welcome, and will start at 7:30 a.m.

A native of San Francisco, Assemblyman Priolo now resides in Pacific Palisades, representing the 60th Assembly District. As chairman of the Assembly Committee of Elections and Constitutional Amendments, Priolo will play an important part in the reapportionment of the districts in California following the 1970 census.

In addition to discussing this most important subject, he will report on the current scene in Sacramento.

Reservations at $5 per person may be made by calling 755-2692. Checks payable to Spadarella for Assembly Committee may be mailed to 1913 Junipero Serra Boulevard, Daly City, 94014. Tickets will be sent by return mail.

General chairman of the Spadarella for Assembly Campaign, James V. Greulich, has announced that this is the first of a series of programs planned for voters of the 27th Assembly District to bring them current information on the subjects that are of importance to voters of the area.

D.C. Candidates' Night Set

The League of Women Voters of Daly City and the Exchange Club are to present a Daly City candidates night April 2 at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater at Westmoor High School to present the candidates for the Daly City Council.

It will be conducted according to the League rulings in order to give each candidate equal opportunity to answer questions directed to him from the audience. Since there are so many persons in the race, it was decided that instead of having each one present a short opening speech, these will be mimeographed and distributed to the audience as they enter.

Questions must be directed to a specific candidate in writing. Each individual will be permitted a limited time to answer each question.

The Daly City League is one of the three units included in the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County. The chairman is Mrs. Julio Ludowig of 77 Southdale Avenue. Mrs. Jack L. Hart of 229 St.

Supports Ban

San Bruno City Personnel Board member, Theodore (Ted) Long, issued support for Congressman George Brown's proposal to ban the sale of internal combustion engines that do not meet new emission standards.

The standards, proposed to be effective January 1, 1975, will limit 5 parts of hydrocarbon per mile as a maximum allowable emission level.

Catherine Dr. is chairman of the arrangements.

The goal of the League of Women Voters is "an informed voter." This is an opportunity for the citizens of Daly City to meet and question all the candidates for the City Council election on April 14 and select the three which they feel would give the most responsible performance in office.

El Camino' Blanks Pads

For the first time in six games the El Camino High School baseball team won a game by more than one run. As a matter of fact, the Colts have yet to lose a game by more than one run but that's another story.

The Colts struck for single runs in the first and fourth innings Saturday and two Col pitchers, flushed with all that support, made those tallies stand up for a 2-0 practice win over Serra High School's Padres.

Pete Alexander and Tom Fillmore combined on a five-hit blanking of the Padres, now 2-3-1, to give EC a 3-3 pre-season record going into North Peninsula League action this Friday afternoon.

CITY To Host D.C. Candidates

Community Inter-action Thru You (C.I.T.Y.) is hosting a candidates' night for the Daly City Council seats Thursday, at 8 p.m., at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse, Brunswick at Acton Streets.

All candidates have been invited to attend, with each participant to be given five minutes to talk.

A question and answer period will follow.

Alexander, a long, tall senior, pitched the first five innings to get credit for the victory as he was near-perfect with his control. He didn't walk a batter and struck out three. His helpmate, Fillmore, who didn't play at all last year as a junior, fast-balled the final two innings to preserve the shutout.

Fillmore opened the scoring in the first by singling and stealing second. He was sacrificed to third and scored when Gary Barton singled.

Catcher Darrell Lauer opened the fourth by singling and was wild-pitched to second. After stealing third, Lauer scored on Brian Finnlayson's sacrifice fly.

The Colts' victim was right-hander Jerry Peck, who did a gutsy job through five-plus innings despite having troubles keeping the ball low. He walked five in that time but an excellent relief job by junior Dick Marsky kept the Padres in the game right to the end.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF IT — San Bruno Councilman Karney Barberian looks up to San Francisco Warrior Nate Thurmond in front of the Warriors' practice gym in San Bruno. Barberian was instrumental in getting the Warriors into the gym and establishing a San Bruno Warriors' Night to benefit the youth of the city.

Barberian Honored For Role In Warrior Game

There were no San Francisco Warrior basketball players in attendance, but some 50 San Brunans, and guests, were on hand last Tuesday to honor Councilman Karney Barberian for his efforts on behalf of the annual San Bruno - Warrior Night.

Chamber of Commerce president Don Rizzo, acting as master of ceremonies, apologized for the absence of Warrior players.

"I apologize," he said. "We got fouled up on the dates. The Warriors are playing in Los Angeles tonight. Otherwise I know some players would be here."

Rizzo introduced Warrior business and ticket manager Lou Colla as "the man who makes it possible to get the tickets," which incidentally are $4 and $5 tickets sold for $1, with receipts going toward San Bruno youth activities.

The Warriors' director of public relations, Harry Jupiter, also was in attendance. Jupiter presented Barberian with a basketball autographed by the team, "using the same signatures they use on those big contracts."

Jupiter, who noted that the San Bruno practice auditorium was "the closest thing to a home the Warriors have" because of the fact they play in three separate locals in the Bay Area, thanked Barberian, superintendent of recreation Michael (Please See Opposite Page)

Guadalupe District Dissolution Urged

Dissolution of the Guadalupe Municipal Improvement district, the district which provides municipal services to Crocker Industrial Park at the base of San Bruno Mountain and north of Brisbane, was proposed by Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald last week.

It was not the first time the supervisor has made the proposal. Yesterday it was referred to County Manager M. D. Tardes. Fitzgerald made his suggestion after a lengthy hearing on a park and recreation plan for Foster City, which is served by the Estero Municipal Improvement district, similar to the Guadalupe district.

After yesterday's meeting of the board of supervisors, Fitzgerald complained that property owners are not represented on the board of directors of the district, which was formed by state legislation at the request of the Crocker Land Company, subdividers of the north county industrial park.

Although Fitzgerald said the district has never abused its power to levy taxes or to issue bonds, he added, "In my opinion, this is not good government. It is the last such district in the state."

State legislation would be required to dissolve the district.

Barberian Honored For Cage Effort

Kiely and "the recreation people." Kiely also added a few words on how rewarding it was to "see excellence at work" in watching the Warriors during their practice sessions.

Barberian accepted the kudos with modesty, saying, "This has not been the effort of a single person. I merely had the time to run around (and promote the annual event)."

San Bruno - San Francisco Warrior Night started back in 1966. At that time the Capuchino High School Band wanted to go to the Rose Bowl but lacked sufficient funds. It soon was realized that there was a need for a special fund to aid in such situations.

Barberian realized that the Warriors at that time also were looking for a place to practice. He approached the team management and proposed a program whereby they could use the San Bruno auditorium in exchange for game tickets at a reduced rate.

The arrangement seemingly has been beneficial to both parties. This past year, for example, the Warrior Nights have netted San Bruno's special youth fund to the tune of $968. Only recently $500 was set aside to help pay maintenance costs at the newly opened teen center in the city.

Wonderful New Way With Chicken

It seems as though we never have enough recipes for chicken, that all-time American favorite as popular as mom and apple pie. Everyone loves it roasted, stewed, baked, barbecued or fried, creamed, sauced or seasoned. Economical and available the year around, it is fun to serve more often than "chicken every Sunday."

Here is a wonderful, exotic way to serve chicken. An elegant, yet easy to prepare recipe, it will be most appealing to adults. Why not invite another couple over soon to share a special dinner for four, highlighting it with Chicken à la Orange.

The chicken simmers to doneness in a cinnamon-spiked orange juice sauce which is laced with plump raisins and crisp slivered almonds. Golden-orange canned sweet potatoes with crushed pineapple are heated in the same skillet with the chicken, giving a fruity, sweet flavor to the dish.

If you have a decorative skillet in which to prepare the recipe, you can bring it right to the dinner table. Or, arrange the chicken and sweet potatoes on your loveliest serving platter.

CHICKEN A LA ORANGE

One 2-pound broiler-fryer chicken, cut in pieces
1/4 cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups orange juice
1/2 cup slivered almonds
1/2 cup raisins

One 15-oz. can sweet potatoes with pineapple, undrained

Brown chicken pieces lightly in butter in large skillet. Remove chicken from pan. Blend flour, salt, sugar and cinnamon into pan drippings. Gradually add orange juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add chicken, almonds and raisins to sauce. Cover; cook over low heat for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. Add sweet potatoes; heat through. Yield: 4 servings.

There are times when one thinks the food dollar just doesn't go far enough. Surveys have shown, however, that Americans have the best food in the world available at the cheapest prices in their local grocery store.

Family menu planning should include one food from each of the four food groups: the milk group, the vegetable - fruit group, the meat group and the breads - cereals group. Meat, poultry, fish, eggs, milk and soybean are complete protein foods and are the most expensive items on the market list. You can cut food costs by using them in combination with incomplete protein such as rice, beans, potatoes, spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, bread or other vegetables. The secret is to use a smaller amount of complete protein and extend it with the incomplete protein.

Tuna is an excellent complete protein. Team it with diced potatoes, celery, onions, milk, condensed celery soup and peas and carrots for a low cost, hot and hearty Tuna Chowder. Serve with oyster crackers and a crisp green salad for an easy, economical dinner.

If your family is tired of standard macaroni and cheese, try Mexicasseroles for a welcome change. Tuna combined with onion, green pepper, condensed celery, soup, tomato sauce, macaroni and cheese add up to a magnificent casserole. Each of these easy-to-prepare, nutritious recipes will cost $2 or less and provide six servings.

Turkey Dressing For Spring Light And Fresh

Families are for getting together, and there's no better time than Easter for gathering them all in. And what to serve? Why, turkey, of course, unless there is preference for the also-traditional baked ham. In springtime the stuffing and trimmings and even the seasonings of turkey should be lighter and fresher. A spring onion dressing is seasoned deftly with tarragon.

Roast Turkey aux Fines Herbes

Select 18 to 20-pound turkey, thaw according to label directions, rinse, and pat dry. Salt inside of cavities generously. Stuff neck cavity loosely with Green Onion Stuffing and fasten neck skin to back of turkey with skewer. Stuff body cavity lightly with remaining stuffing and truss or slip legs into tail band. If legs cannot be tucked under band of skin at tail, tie with heavy string. Fasten wings to body, using skewers or string. Brush bird with $\frac{1}{2}$ -cup melted butter that has been seasoned with thyme and rosemary. For deeper color, 2 teaspoons paprika may be added to melted butter.

Place on rack in shallow pan, adding no water and using no lid, and roast at 325 degrees F. according to timetable (see below). If desired, the bird may be roasted the first half of the time breast down on the rack, then turned with protected hands breast up to finish cooking. If any parts become too brown, lay pieces of aluminum foil loosely over the top.

Spring Stuffing

4 quarts bread crumbs, made from French or Italian bread
 $\frac{3}{4}$ pound butter
4 cups finely sliced green onions, green tops and all

2 tablespoons tarragon
1 cup chopped parsley
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon freshly grated black pepper
Crumble bread. In heavy saucepan melt butter, add onions, and simmer for a few minutes until onions are soft. Toss lightly into bread crumbs along with seasonings and stuff into both neck and body cavities of a 20 to 24 pound turkey.

San Francisco Will Defend Title

The culinary cause celebre that stirred up seafood communities from Waikiki to Wilmington and from New Orleans to Nova Scotia last May has been revived. San Francisco, which started the whole thing, is again fanning the crabs flame.

This Dungeness - happy port is preparing to defend its title as the crab cuisine capital of the continent in the second annual North American Crab Cooking Olympics on May 18.

The 1970 crustacean classic will be held at Fisherman's Wharf here under the joint auspices of the Wharf Merchants Association and the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Judging will be by a panel of distinguished food experts headed by the internationally known gourmet, cookbook editor and columnist, James A. Beard.

Localities which take their seafood seriously are being invited to send chefs to the forthcoming crab cooking derby. No more than one entrant per city may qualify.

The competition started as a tempest in a chafing dish last year when Baltimore and San Francisco began bickering about which city's crab gastronomy was the best.

In less time than it takes to hone a spatula, 17 U.S. and Canadian seafood centers had become embroiled. Shortly after dawn on May 20, 1969, the white-capped combatants shook out their aprons and marched to the stoves at Fisherman's Wharf for the first crab cook-off of its kind.

The winner was Art Davis of San Francisco, who will not compete this year. Davis took two firsts — in the Crab Mornay and Crab Cioppino categories — to capture the Master Chef de Cuisine award.

Baltimore's Dave Gordon, cooking for the cause of Chesapeake Blue Channel crabs, won the Chef's Specialty event with his Maryland Crab Cakes.

Other runners-up were Ernest Butler of Victoria, British Columbia, high scorer in the Deviled Crab category, and Houston's G. C. "Granny" Harber who came in first in the Crab Louie division.

High marks for culinary artistry also went to chefs from Anaheim, Oakland, Pebble Beach, Santa Barbara and San Diego, Calif.; Cannon Beach, Ore.; Chicago, Ill.; Halifax, Nova Scotia; Honolulu, Hawaii; New Orleans, La.; Seattle, Wash., and Wilmington, Del.

This year's Crab Cooking Olympics will comprise five events, one of which will be the Chef's Specialty. The other four categories will be announced shortly.

The competition will be conducted with the cooperation of the Chef's Association of the Pacific Coast, Gus Gelardi, president of the Fisherman's Wharf Association, said.

Entries are now being accepted. Interested chambers of commerce, convention and visitors bureaus or similar agencies should send the names of their chosen representatives to the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau, Fox Plaza, San Francisco, Cal. 94102, as soon as possible. The deadline is April 20.

Honors For D.C. Civic Leaders

The Daly City council last week unanimously passed resolutions commending three commissioners for their efforts on behalf of the city.

Recently resigned Planning Commissioner Dino H. Tonelli was commended for devoting much of his time and efforts to personnel matters for the benefit of both city employees and local citizens.

Tonelli, who is a candidate in the upcoming council race, was further commended for his contributions toward the "growth, planning and forward thinking" during his term on the board.

Melford Battye, former city councilman and longtime member of the city's Personnel Board, was praised for faithfully fulfilling the responsibilities of his office and for distinguishing himself by "good counsel and careful advice, by his awareness of the problems and changes that have occurred over the years and by his devoted service not only to the employees... but also the citizens of the community."

Longtime Daly City Library Board member, Maude Hanselman, was likewise praised for her unselfish devotion and service to the citizens during her 18 years on the board.

She has "greatly contributed to the growth and expansion of the library system for the benefit of all residents..." the resolution explained.

Marijuana Confiscated At Pacifica

Pacifica police arrested a suspected marijuana peddler on Friday and confiscated nine kilos (22.5 pounds) of marijuana.

Sergeant Bruce Rivers and rookie patrolman Dennis Raymond spotted the suspect, Joseph Martin Higgins, 23, leaving a private home on Hilton Lane with what appeared to be a kilo of the drug about 9 a.m.

Closer investigation allegedly revealed the package Higgins was carrying under a raincoat was marijuana.

Inside of the home of Susan and Terry Ledel at 147 Hilton Lane, police found another eight kilos of marijuana, according to reports.

Higgins, who has resided at 1050 Rosita Road for the past 14 years, was booked for possession of marijuana.

Police said the case is still under investigation and would not comment further on the arrest.

One kilo of high grade marijuana now nets an estimated $450-$500 to peddlers after processing into cigarettes.

Can't Beat The Price For Storage

The San Bruno Park School District and the city of San Bruno have come to terms on exchange of school and storage sites, all for the sum of $1 a year.

In the agreement the school district will modify the Belle Air Fire Station into classroom space, and the city will move from this present storage area to space at the North Brae School site, 925 San Mateo Avenue. Modification, incidentally, will be at the expense of the school district.

The lease of the fire station by the city has solved, at least temporarily, a problem of space for the school district due to the proposed construction of a new freeway over the North Brae School grounds.

Either party may terminate the three-year agreement with written notice at least one year in advance. And the lease can be renewed for one year by mutual agreement.

Sixth Lenten Meditation

First Lutheran Church of South San Francisco will have its sixth Lenten meditation on the theme "The Abundant Life Abounds in Penitence" today at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Trenton R. Ferro, officiating.

Special Holy Week services are planned with addition of a special afternoon service on Good Friday in conjunction with Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church joining in the planning and worship.

The Rev. Bill Wilms and the Rev. Ferro will be the Liturgists as well as each giving a sermon.

In all, seven pastors will be involved from the American Lutheran and Missouri Lutheran Synods.

Combination Chosen For Bruno Flag

Eyeing six possibilities, the San Bruno city councilmen agreed to a combined version of the half dozen to select a city flag.

South San Francisco councilmen, on the other hand picked one of three possibilities as the symbol of their city.

Both flag projects are part of the Bay Area Association of Girl Scouts' efforts to insure that every city have its own flag.

The San Bruno banner will be on a white background. It will show a green circle, holding the city's insignia (the El Camino Real bell) in yellow. Also in the green circle will be the word "California" and the year "1914."

The South San Francisco flag will contain the city's name and the "Industrial City" slogan, plus carry a replica of the city hall tower.

South San Francisco councilmen gave the local Girl Scouts the prerogative of what color they desired. Black and gold will definitely be used, with a possibility of a blue or green background.

Serramonte's Golf Tourney

The first Serramonte Shopping Center Golf Tournament was held yesterday at the Cypress Hills links in Colma. Despite high winds, Cid Pratt of Kinney's Shoes shot a low gross of 74, good enough for first place. Many Luhn of Jeffrey's Toys had the low net of 65, while the hole in one was won by Bob Lee of Wards. An awards dinner was held following the match, at the Flaming Pit in Serramonte. The entire affair was co-chaired by Dick Chapman of Chapman's Shoes, and Mel Taylor of Taylor's Shoes.

LOW BIDDER

A South San Francisco firm is the low bidder for a $7,575,575.50 contract to build a section of freeway in Sacramento.

The State Department of Public Works said Thursday the low bid was submitted by Guy F. Atkinson for a 2.6-mile stretch of California 50. The eight-lane road will connect Interstate 80 with an interchange at 65th street in Sacramento.

Bowler Barrett Misses Nationals

Les Barrett, the teaching professional at Westlake Bowl and a veteran PBA competitor, has been rolling the ball at a tough rate recently in tournament competition.

The middle-aged bowler missed a trip to the National All-Star tournament at Castle Lanes by a scant six pins during match game play but rolled up a 226 average with games of 273 and 267 in the premier Northern California competition.

Barrett, who spent five years on the tour, teaches from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays now at Johnny Swanson's pine emporium. A veteran of 22 years bowling, he was an electronics expert before going on the tour pro in the early 1960's.

The near victory at Castle Lanes netted him $200 and last Sunday he earned $30 in the Western Bowlers Association Open won by Sam Mateo teenager Chris McCoy at Sports Center Bowl.

Serra Bowl's pro, Don Hooper, sponsored a team in the 2nd annual City Mixed 4's Tournament last Sunday at Castle Lanes and the squad won the crown.

Shooting on the team were Hooper, who hit for a 234 game and 634 series; Jettie Hooper, 190 and 529; Bob Johnson, 220 and 587; and Phyllis Shirley, 201 and 576.

The week's top bowlers were from Serra with young Dave Durkin rolling a sizzling 740 series on games of 259, 256 and 225 in the Blue Chip loop. Bill Rice bettered him, leaving a 10 pin on a pocket hit in the first frame and then coming back

A.C.T. To Perform In Pacifica Friday

Professional theatre comes to the coastside Friday evening. The Pacifica Spindrift Players present A.C.T., the American Conservatory Theatre of San Francisco. To be held at Skyline College's new main auditorium, the professional theatre group's Potpourri, Periwinkle Art of national renown will perform its popular Mime Show, followed by A.C.T.'s own adaptation of the Pulitzer Prize play, "J.B." by Archibald MacLeish. Darrel Greer, chairman of the event, states that there are tickets still available from any member of the theatre group or through the following ticket agencies: Dent Cleaners, Bou-

Gallery, Ewald Travel Service, Pacifica PB and R Department or any bank in the city of Pacifica.

The Mime Show, which will consist of several variety acts in mime has been presented as a part of the A.C.T. Television presentation on KTVU, Channel 9.

"J.B." takes place on a stage set in a circus tent. Two circus peddlers make whimsical use of the tent by playing God and the Devil. Suddenly the audience is deep in the unanswered problems of man's relationship to God in an era of cruel injustices. J.B., a modern business man, rich with blessings, is Mr. MacLeish's counterpart of the immortal Job. J.B. is brought down by the terrible affliction of our century — deaths and violent catastrophes that seem to have no cause for meaning. The glory of the play is that as in the Book of Job, J.B. does not curse God. When he is reunited with his wife, two humbled but valiant people accept the universe, agree to begin life over again, expect no justice but unswerving in their devotion to God.

S.S.F. Lodge Is Burglarized

An undetermined amount of cash receipts plus business records, have been taken in a burglary of Brentwood Lodge, 101 Brentwood Dr. South San Francisco.

Police said entrance was made by pulling a screen off a men's room window. The burglary occurred some time Monday night.

S.S.F. CD Names Allen

Following the resignation of South San Francisco's past part-time civil defense coordinator, Woody Soals, the city has hired a new replacement, Donald Allen.

He was hired from the San Mateo County Disaster Office and is working on a part time basis under the direction of the city.

Allen, 47, is recently retired from the Air Force after 27 years active duty, ending with the rank of colonel. He attended George Washington University and the University of Virginia.

His job will be to coordinate the city's civil defense program. This includes speaking to different groups to educate them regarding civil defense and also to update the city's civil defense program.

Bureau For Speakers Set At SSF High

The Speech Class of South San Francisco High School recently announced a formation of a Speaker's Bureau.

Student members of the bureau are prepared to speak to community clubs and organizations. They may give prepared speeches, extemporaneous speeches, or present a discussion.

Prepared speeches would be Dramatic or Humorous Interpretive Readings or Original Oratory. Students have orations on subjects as: The Generation Gap, the War in Vietnam, Education Today, and Pollution Problems.

Students could also give extemporaneous speeches in South San Francisco's High School's student government, what the students desire from education today, or perhaps a topic which individual groups would be interested in hearing about.

The Speaker's Bureau is now available to be called upon, for further information or if an organization would be interested in hearing a student or students, please contact Olivia Gagliani, Becky Herbert or Mrs. Kay O'Malley, South San Francisco High School 400 South "B" Street, South San Francisco.

ALLOCATION

County supervisors allocated $1000 March 9 to help pay for a trip of the El Camino High School stage band in South San Francisco to Germany.

Jeff Seeks State Help

Jefferson Elementary School District Trustees in Daly City have adopted a resolution seeking legislation to have the state underwrite its burglary insurance.

The district last year had its insurance canceled. Since then it has been difficult to get coverage. None can be obtained on burglary, and the rates of other coverage has doubled.

D.C. HERO

101ST AIRBORNE DIV. (AMBL.) — Spec. 4 Victor W. Stenroos, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Stenroos, 1015 Brunswick Street, Daly City, received the Army Commendation Medal while serving with the 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile) in Vietnam.

The award was presented November 25.
